South Glendale Is Coming Into Its Own Destiny

THIS coming Saturday, South Glendale in a measure comes into its own. The merchants of that district, commencing at 7:30 in the evening, are to celebrate the turning on of the ornamental lights recently installed on a portion of San Fernando road. The rest of Glendale may well be proud of the southern part of their city, for during the past six months it has made wonderful strides.

* * *

THAT this growth is to continue is evidenced by the numerous buildings either under construction at this time or planned for the near future. The fact that the new Southern Pacific depot is to be built in that section is another help to the boom now on. Especially so when one considers that undoubtedly the Glendale depot will be used extensively by the residents of the surrounding cities, including Pasadena and Hollywood.

In the past there has been a feeling among the residents of South Glendale that their section was not getting its share of the benefits given other sections of the city. We are of the opinion that there was some justification in this feeling. This belief is gradually disappearing, for through the untiring efforts of a few south end citizens the balance of the city has come to realize the importance of that section.

* * *

GLENDALE is getting to be sufficiently large in population to take care of more than one business disrtict and there should be no jealousy between the districts. In cases of proposed improvements, one section should not be favored over any other. Each proposed improvement should be considered on its merits.

During the last election for councilmen there was some effort made to elect a south end man, one of the talking points being that their interests would be better served if one of their own men were elected. We believe that the Glendale city councilmen recognize that they were elected to represent the whole city, not any one section, and if the south end has been neglected, with a proper presentation of the fact the matter will be taken care of.

* * *

THE gateway of any city should not be neglected, for it is the first impression the strangers get of Glendale, and consequently is liable to be a lasting one. In fact, a great many people going through to Los Angeles by way of San Fernando road do not see any other section of Glendale, so it behooves us to give to it its share of civic improvements.

THE WEATHER

San Francisco: Fair tonight and Wednesday except cloudy or foggy in morning near the sea; moderate northwesterly winds.

Valleys: Fair tonight and Wednesday; moderate northwesterly winds.

Southern California: Fair tonight and Wednesday; gentle westerly winds.

GLENDALE LEADS VALLEY LEAGUE IN PERCENTAGE

Local Team Will Take on Zelzah for Sunday's Game at Park Ave.

Glendale takes on Zelzah next Sunday on the home lot at Park avenue and San Fernando road in the third game of the Valley League. This game promises to be just as exciting and interesting as the two previous games for the reason that the remainder of the clubs in the league have adopted a slogan "Get Glendale!" since we took over the Champs last Sunday and are coming here to put everything they have against us.

Manager Heidler says if his team plays baseball like they did last Sunday there is no need to worry but they must keep that same peppery stuff they displayed last Sunday all through the schedule if they want to continue as a flag chaser.

NEW TEMPLE SITE CHOSEN FOR MASONRY

Mass Meeting of Masonic Bodies Called to Discuss Plans

IS SET FOR FRIDAY

Report of Committee on Building to Make Recommendations

For weeks there has been speculation and surmise as to what the Masonic organizations would do to provide themselves with a building adequate to their needs. A committee to investigate the matter was appointed, headed by Fred Deal, which included Captain D. Ripley Jackson and other representatives, and this committee has called a mass meeting of the members of all the Masonic bodies for next Friday night at the Temple at 7:30 o'clock. The report of the committee will then be presented and its recommendations discussed. Committee members will not reveal in advance just what those recommendations will be, but it is known an option upon a site has been secured, and tentative plans have been outlined by architects who will send representatives to the meeting to explain them.

It will be a conference of such outstanding interest to all Masons and affiliated bodies that the attendance should be large.

There have been propositions for a five-story building on the present site, but whether the committee recommendations will favor that project remains to be found out.

COMMUNITY AID IS EXTENDED TO SERVICE

Executive Board Offered Use of Clubhouse for Entertainment

A meeting of the executive board of the Glendale Community Service was held at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the office in the Citizens' building. The offer of the Glendale Community Players club to put on their Fun Revue entertainment for the public on Thursday, May 3, was accepted. In addition to that the board also accepted the invitation of the Tuesday Afternoon club to Community Service for use of the banquet hall for special community parties for young people. This matter will be taken up at a meeting with a committee from the Tuesday Afternoon club, which will be held on Wednesday of next week.

A letter was read from the G. A. R. asking that Community Service co-operate in the memorial day exercises. A committee from these two bodies will meet next Monday night to formulate plans.

The various schools throughout the city entered into the celebration of National Play Week yesterday by having varied athletic programs given out of doors.

FOOTHILL FOLKS SWARM TO PLAY THIS EVENING

Improvement Ass'n. and Grand View Folks Unite in Program

Metaphorically speaking, the members of the Foothill Improvement Association and of the Grand View P.-T. A. are sending heralds abroad today to summon to their joint neighborhood party on the school campus this evening all residents of the district. It is given in connection with the Glendale program for the observance of National play week.

It will be featured by a bonfire and wienie roast, there will be games, community singing and exercises by the children. Mrs. Langdon of Roscoe and Mrs. Whytock of Glendale will direct the games, and Mrs. W. Q. Widdows will lead the community singing. Everybody is expected to come to the merry making at 7:30.

INJURED BY BIKE

While riding his bicycle at the corner of Wilson and Brand, Monday, Richard Pettener, 203 West Elk, accidentally caught his foot in one of the wheels. He was thrown to the ground, the impact rendering him unconscious. He was taken to his home by Officer Blake.

BARD SECTION WINS SUCCESS WITH SHOWS

Achieves Triumph of Artistry in Production at Clubhouse

BY GERTRUDE GIBBS

"Romeo and Juliet," as presented by the Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Club under the direction of Mrs. Henry Ralston, with the assistance of Mrs. Mazie Garrett, instructor, and Mrs. Walter Jones, curator, was a triumph in artistry and puts this hard working section in a class by itself. The efficiency of the training for class work was apparent when it was known that for yesterday's performance only two rehearsals were had.

It was all very simple with little or no attempt at stage setting. This is always possible with Shakespeare where the absorbing interest of the text needs no extraneous aids. But there were touches which gave it a most satisfying "finish," and the chief of these was the prologue before each scene, read by Mrs. W. E. Evans, in the costume of a courtier and attended by two darling little pages, Billy Hunter and Randolph Vandewater, who preceded her, greeting each other before the curtain with a ceremonious bow, and parting the curtain for her entrance. They took their work very seriously and the audience in imagination hugged them at each appearance. It was the golden linking that bound the scenes together in unity and lent the atmosphere needed for a full appreciation of the great romance.

There were two Romeos and three Juliets. Mrs. Chester Kling, the consistent and impetuous lover throughout most of the scenes, surrendered the character to Mrs. Roscoe Puffer, Jr., in the balcony scene where Romeo serenaded his love exquisitely with Schubert's "Serenade," "Until" (Sanderson), and "Hark, Hark, the Lark" (Schubert). It was practically her first public appearance and the beauty of her voice and interpretations was a delightful surprise and an embellishment of the scene of which the audience manifested its appreciation in no uncertain terms. Mrs. Roberta Young served as accompanist for Mrs. Puffer and for the dancers.

The introduction to the play was a stately minuet directed by Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain, in which all the cast took part or were present on the stage, announced as follows: "The Nurse," Mistress Kingsley; "Romeo," Mrs. Kling; "Juliet," Mistress Hunter; "Lady Capulet," Mrs. Halstead; "Lord Capulet," Mistress Snow; "Lord Tybalt," Mistress Clotworthy; "Lady Rosaline," Mistress Vandewater; "Lord Benvolio," Mistress Jones; and "Lady Helena," Mistress Cable.

In the second balcony scene Mrs. Kling resumed her part as "Romeo," and kept it throughout the remaining scenes. Mrs. Hunter was the beautiful "Juliet" of those scenes, but was superseded in the comedy scene between "Juliet" and her nurse by Mrs. Cable, who was excellent in the part of the impatient girl, "The Nurse" being assumed by Mrs. Montgomery, who enacted the role to perfection. She also personated "Friar Lawrence" with satisfying fidelity to the character.

As "Juliet" in the potion and dagger scenes Mrs. Ralston was wonderful in her youthful appearance and her splendid interpretation of the distracted heroine.

The section was also indebted to Mrs. Ralston for the delightful one-act comedy which followed the Shakespearean presentation, viz., "The Bear," a Russian one-act play by Anton Tcheckov, in which the feminine lead, "Madame Poppova," has been played all over Europe, even in Moscow, by Glory Ray, of the "Repertoire Theatre," of Los Angeles, conducted by Hal McInroy. He kindly permitted her to come to Glendale to fill the role, the part of "The Bear" being taken by Clarence Ralston, and that of "Lucca," the servitor, by Henry Ralston. It was a delicious bit of satire on the eternal feminine and the eternal masculine, which tremendously amused the audience and must be seen to be appreciated.

As the swash-buckling, tyrannous male, Clarence Ralston was a fine, upstanding exponent his father being even more perfect as the trembling, bewildered servant, the butt of both the other characters, and as the widow in love and with her own idea of faithfulness, Glory Ray left nothing to be desired.

Following the final descent of the curtain the audience adjourned to the tea room where cakes and tea were served by members of the section and where the artists of the day were thanked and congratulated on their excellent work.

MRS. MANNING HAS A WARM WELCOME FOR THIEF

Three shots from a revolver were fired by Mrs. Fred Manning, 424 West Palmer avenue, at a man who attempted to break into her home last night, according to a report made to the police shortly after the firing took place, by Mrs. Manning. The offender did not stop when commanded to do so, but disappeared in the darkness.

Immediately upon the affair being reported to the Glendale police, Officers Baugh, Hedrick and Epps responded and searched the neighborhood, but no trace of the would-be thief could be found.

COMMUNITY SING AT HIGH WEDNESDAY TO HAVE FINE PROGRAM

Arranged by Mrs. J. J. Carter of Hollywood Chorus, It Will Include Nationally Known Artists

FINE SOLOISTS ARE SECURED

Organization Consists of Sixty Women's Voices Led by Hugo Kirchhofer, All of Whom Will Be in the Big Bill

The Community Sing at the high school on Wednesday evening, April 25th, promises to be one of the finest musical programs ever put on in Glendale.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood Community Chorus, and will include nationally known artists.

Community singing will be under the direction of Hugo Kirchhofer. Chas. Wakefield Cadman, noted American composer, will play some of his most popular numbers. Margaret Messer Morris, well-known lyric soprano, will sing the "Robin Woman's Song," an aria from Mr. Cadman's opera, "Shanewis." She will also sing a group of three of Mr. Cadman's best known compositions, including "The Land of the Sky-blue Water." Mr. Sol Cohen, one of America's finest violinists, will play several numbers.

The Hollywood Woman's club chorus of 60 voices will sing under the direction of Mr. Kirchhofer. George L. Eastman, president of the Hollywood chamber of commerce, will bring greetings from that body. Mrs. John F. Mead, president of the Hollywood Woman's club, will also be present. Representatives from the local chamber of commerce, the Tuesday Afternoon club and the various musical organizations are expected to attend.

Everyone interested is invited. This program has been arranged in connection with National Play Week, and is also the first intercommunity musical event to be put on in Glendale under the Community Service activities.

Justice Chase Is Willing to Marry

Justice Harry W. Chase, the "marryin' jelge," isn't satisfied to stay in his own town and put an end to single blessedness. He goes to Los Angeles to "pick up jobs" now and then.

Monday morning Harry had business in the court house in the Angel City. While there he stumbled upon his first "outside" job. An excited couple stopped him and asked if there was not another justice in the building who could marry them—the one there was busy at that time tying the knot for another pair.

As any other progressive Glendalite would have done, Justice Chase volunteered to do the job. So, Harry performed the "operation" in the outer office while his brother justice was going through a similar ceremony in the inner room.

The thing that peeved Harry was that he was given only $2 for his work while his brother justice was handed a nice, new, crisp bill for ten cartwheels.

CITY COUNCIL VISITS CANYON WATER AREA

Investigates Reports That Residents Are Drilling Wells

For the purpose of protecting the city's water supply in the Verdugo canyon, a group of city officials, consisting of Mayor Robinson, Councilmen Horn and Hall, City Manager Reeves, P. Dederich, superintendent of plant and production, and G. B. Woodberry, representing the Verdugo Canyon Water company, made a tour this morning of the entire Verdugo canyon.

Word has been received by the city administration that owners of property in the Verdugo canyon are sinking wells on their property. It is believed possible that the drilling of these wells may in the future threaten the water supply of the city, and it is to ascertain this fact that the officials of the city made their tour of inspection today. Mr. Woodberry, and officials of the city claim that the owners of property in this canyon have absolutely no right to sink wells, as the city now controls all of the waters of the canyon.

The other members of the council have already been over the Verdugo canyon with the purpose of looking into the water situation, and for this reason they did not accompany the party this morning.

SPIRIT OF PLAY INVADES CREDIT MEN MEETING

By W. L. TAYLOR

The greater part of the noon hour luncheon of the Credit Men's association at the Glen Inn yesterday was devoted to the spirit of National Play Week, and the members present were given a sample of what can be put on by the live wire entertainers when occasion demands.

After enjoying an extra good dinner, Wm. Hunter, chairman of the committee, took charge of the program, and announced the first event would be a balloon race. Pop Cowan, Messrs. Gregg and Tucker were chosen as captains, and the start was made with seven men on each team. Mr. Tucker's team outdistanced the other sprinters by a good margin, and if there had been a prize he would have easily won it.

Next came the centipede race—and it was not so slow after all. Messrs. Kirkman, Hooper and Kelty were at the head of the procession which, astride broom handles, furnished an event that was calculated to drive dull care from everyone—in fact it was far ahead of any comedy that is usually classed as "legitimate." H. S. Webb showed his acrobatic ability by tumbling over several times and lighting on his feet without a scratch. This special stunt, however, was not on the program.

The final number was a boxing match between Doc Hogue and Dr. Charley Stuart—two heavyweights that usually put punch and vim in everything they undertake. The event was a side-splitting one, filled with some inklings of the awful things that might have happened had these corpulent gentlemen seen fit to disregard boxing rules. Another extraordinary feature of this number was the work of the "seconds" in the ring. Stuart suffered more from his "rubbings" than he did from the blows of his opponent. To say the least no one was hurt, except the housewives of the members who may have to call a "sewing bee" to take care of the "button problem" that is sure to confront them.

Ole Andresen, who is always ready to do his part in the musical line, was on hand and put pep into the meeting with a number of songs, which added a great deal to the program.

The program committee was composed of Wm. Hunter, D. L. Gregg and Clyde Downing, who have the sincere thanks of the members for their good work. Play week was surely inaugurated in the right spirit by the Credit Men's association.

BURBANK BOY MAY LOSE LEG IN ACCIDENT

The injuries received by Manuel Castenedo of Flower street, Burbank, who was struck Saturday night by a motorcycle ridden by Warren Knight of 557 West Harvard street, will probably result in the amputation of the boy's leg, according to reports from the Glendale sanitarium this morning. In addition to breaking the leg, portions of the motorcycle ground a part of the leg bone to bits, making the setting of the bone and the recovery of the injured member extremely doubtful.

Manuel's broken wrist has been set and is getting along nicely.

ALL C.E. DELEGATES ARE HOME FROM POMONA

Everyone Glad to Get Back to Glendale After Convention

All who went to the Christian Endeavor convention at Pomona have returned at last and are glad to get back to Glendale. Everybody who went got a real message from the different speakers, including Dr. Hadden, Dr. Gifford, Dr Rourke, Rev. Bob Shuler, Paul Brown and many other noted persons.

The theme for the convention was "The Infallible Word," and all the sermons were based on it. Maurice Johnson, the soloist, sang an invitation song after the sermons which did a great deal of good. Other songs were sung by a quartet, called "The Magnify Four," and also the "Harmony Quartet" and the Golden West Choral club took part.

Several street meetings were held during the time between the sessions on the main corners of Pomona. The speakers held quite a crowd. One of these was Harold Majors, a Glendale C. E. member.

Everybody had a good time and all are waiting patiently for the time when the state convention meets at Long Beach, June 27 to July 1.

Those who went to Pomona from the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church were:

Howard L. Brown, superintendent; Mildred Elliot, assistant superintendent; Mildred Thompson, Mildred Sooy, Margaret Jones, Margaret Majors, Ruth Jeckel, Gladys Gilman, Louise Holt, Thomas McClellan, Harold Jones, Harold Parker, Harold Majors, Daryl Parker, Percy Jewell, Paul Edmonds, Fred Fallis, John Thompson, John Heideman, Lyle McAllister, Graham Tinning and John Elliot.

HIGH ATHLETIC TRYOUTS HELD

Wrestling and Boxing Matches Are Worth Witnessing

The finals in the wrestling bouts for which tryouts have been in progress were staged last night in the boys' gym and resulted in some very pretty mat work, as well as in the picking of the champion wrestlers of the school who will receive silver medals. Coach Wolfe acted as referee, the judges being Mr. Whitaker, a former student, and Coach Hayhurst.

The results as announced briefly by Coach Wolfe were:

Weight, 115 pounds—Charles Thompson threw Jack Stoeckel.

Weight, 125 pounds—Masura Horii threw Robert Searle.

Weight, 135 pounds—Teed Haig threw Robert Potts.

Weight, 145 pounds—Cyril Walton threw Teed Haig.

Weight, 158 pounds—Cyril Walton threw Dick Ryan.

Weight, 175 pounds—Harry Fish threw Louis Dotson.

The best, most sensational bout was between Horii and Searle, which was fast and lasted 8 minutes.

About 150 spectators witnessed the contest and yelled for more.

It was followed by a boxing bout between Jack Stoeckel and Arthur Palmer, a knockout of three rounds, in which Stoeckel got the decision but Palmer put up a good resistance. Fast and snappy it was pronounced by witnesses; more fun than a $1.50 professional performance.

Coach Wolfe announced that a boxing tournament would be held in the near future.

SHULER'S YOUNG FOLKS TO HEAR JERRY JETER

Led by Mr. Johnson, They Will Sing at the Great Tabernacle

A great time is expected at the Jeter Tabernacle on East Broadway tonight. Mr. Johnson and a large number of the young people from Bob Shuler's church in Los Angeles are coming down and Mr. Johnson will sing and the young people will also sing a number of selections just before the evangelist speaks.

Mr. Jeter will speak tonight on "Dope Peddlers, or What Alleth thee, Hagar?" Mr. Jeter will model in clay for the young people. The evangelist states that he will go after the dope peddlers, both religious and otherwise, at the meeting tonight.

GLENDALE W. C. T. U. CALLED BY JETER

The members of the W. C. T. U. of Glendale have received a special invitation to attend the Jerry Jeter tabernacle meeting at the corner of Cedar street and Broadway tonight at 7:30 o'clock, when Mr. Jeter, the evangelist will speak on the "Booze Question" among other subjects, and wishes the members of the Glendale union to attend. Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president of the W. C. T. U., requests all members to wear their badges and to be at the tabernacle at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

GLENDALE CREDIT MEN CALL MEET ON BUS LINE

Organization to Consider Verdugo Hills Bus Line Option

A meeting of all the business men and interested citizens of Glendale to consider the exercising of the option for the purchase of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company, now held by C. D. Gulick, will be held in the chamber of commerce banquet rooms Wednesday noon. The session is being called by the Glendale Credit association.

Some members of the Glendale Credit association feel that this opportunity to secure entrance by bus into Los Angeles, thereby providing a competing line to the Pacific Electric, should not be permitted to slip away.

At the meeting Wednesday one of the speakers will be Mattison B. Jones, who will present Mr. Gulick's side of the question, and Lon Haddock, of the Haddock-Nibley company, recent purchasers of the Ross ranch, who will speak on the needs of Glendale for a line similar to the one that is under consideration.

"Glendale should not lose this chance to get an entrance into Los Angeles," said George Bentley, chairman of the publicity committee, this morning. "What this city needs more than anything else in the world is cheaper transportation to Los Angeles and in this line we see a chance of getting that very thing. If we let this opportunity slip by it may be many years before this city has another chance to get additional transportation facilities into Los Angeles."

DRAMA SECTION REHEARSES FOR THE BIG SHOW

Rehearsals are progressing wonderfully well for the three one-act plays, "Finders-Keepers," "The New Crusade" and "Pierrot, the Dream Maker," which are to be presented by the members of the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the club auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights of this week under the personal direction of Mrs. Raymond E. Chase.

Last night the members were busy going through their parts until after 11 o'clock. Flash-light pictures of the cast were also taken.

"The Dream Maker" is a fantasy in one act. "Finders-Keepers," which is said to be an absorbing play with an unusual appeal, relentlessly exposes human nature. "The New Crusade" is a hilarious comedy-satire on the servant problem.

These three one-act plays will be given Friday and Saturday nights, April 27 and 28, at the club auditorium beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

JUDGE LINDSAY ADDRESSES TWO ASSEMBLIES

At two assemblies this morning students of Glendale high were entertained by Judge Ben Lindsay of Denver with a talk on "Loyalty," which provided the peg upon which to hang a number of amusing and pathetic stories within his own experience, more or less related to the subject.

As a poor boy who sold newspapers, scrubbed floors and did other strenuous tasks to gain the wherewithal for his education and maintenance, Judge Lindsay learned considerable about boys, about the "gang spirit," and the morale of the gang which were a help to him as judge of the children's court in Denver.

At the high school as in the courtroom he was able to "point the moral" and at the same time reveal his sympathy with boys and their code of honor.

The room was filled twice and the talk drew much applause from appreciative students.

ARRESTED ON TELEGRAPH WARRANT FROM OAKLAND

A. J. Petterson of 622 East Palmer avenue, was taken into custody at 5:40 o'clock last night by Officers Simmons and Blake, on telegraph instructions issued by Chief Drew of the Oakland police department. Petterson is charged with issuing a fictitious check in the northern city.

PRESIDENT ADVOCATES WORLDCOURT

In Address Before Associated Press, President Defines Attitude

IN PARTY PLEDGE

Chief Executive Declares He Does Not Fear Entanglements

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, April 24.—Participation by the United States in the world court as proposed by the administration, President Harding today declared at the annual luncheon of members of The Associated Press, would be in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatory promises and American aspirations, and would not be an entry into the League of Nations "by the side door, the back door or the cellar door."

Enthusiastic friends of the League, the President declared, have beclouded the situation by an unwaranted assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the League while, he added, the irreconcilable opponents of the League have also beclouded the question with the assumption that entanglements with Europe would unavoidably follow.

The fear of entanglements, the President dismissed with the blunt declaration that if the senate were to consent to any, his administration would not complete ratification of such a proposal and, would thereby prevent it from becoming effective.

Reiterating his conviction that the United States could participate in the world court assuming the risks which its opponents point out, President Harding reviewed the Republican party platforms since 1904, all of which he pointed out, spoke for a world court of arbitral justice and added:

"I believe in keeping the faith. If the political parties do not mean what they say and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of popular government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure."

But the president left no doubt that he has no intention of moving toward the League of Nations by his support of the world court.

"In compliance with its pledges," he said, "the administration definitely and decisively put aside all thought of the United States entering the League of Nations. It doesn't propose to enter now by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door. I have no unseemly comment to offer on the League. If it is serving the old world helpfully, more power to it. But it is not for us. The senate has so declared, the executive has so declared, the people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

Mr. Harding made it plain that he did not consider the world court question paramount to all other national problems and added that neither did he hold it a menace to party unity, evidently having in mind the warning issued by some Republicans within the last few weeks.

"It is not to be classed as a party question," he continued, "but if any party, repeatedly advocating a world court, is to be rendered unfit for national endeavor by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new appraisal of its assets."

Sensing one of the principal arguments to be used by opponents of the administration proposal, the claim that the United States would be placed at a disadvantage in the election of judges to the court through the disparity in the national voting power in the League assembly, the president said he frankly recognizes this as a "political bugbear," but added that inasmuch as no nation could have more than one judge, it was less of an objection than when applied to the League itself.

Although the question of the world court formed the burden of the president's address, he also bespoke a word for the establishment of a merchant marine, deplored lack of party loyalty and

MRS. WOODS IS SURPRISED BY CITY ACTORS

Director of Fun Revue Is Presented With Tea Wagon at Party

By MAURICE WIDDOWS

The cast of the Fun Revue, members of the orchestra, and friends of the Community Players enjoyed a very delightful party at the home of the director, Mrs. Nanno Woods, last night. The party was given by Mrs. Woods to celebrate the big success of the Fun Revue, the musical comedy that was presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, the nights of April 19-20.

The party was taken up mostly with dancing and singing. The greatest event of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful mahogany tea wagon to Mrs. Woods by Cyril Holway, in behalf of the Community Players. Mrs. Woods never expected such a gift, but said that it was just what she had wanted for a long time.

Mrs. Woods worked hard on the musical comedy, devoting most of her time and all her energy toward its success without pay or thought of pay. Upon receiving the gift, she proceeded to share it with others who helped greatly towards the success of the recent play. The tea wagon happened to have four wheels, two large ones and two small ones. She presented one of the large ones to her daughter, Miss Dorothy Woods, who worked hand in hand with her mother to make the show a success. Miss Woods who, besides being ballet mistress, also had charge of the making of costumes, became so busy with these duties that she was forced to give up her work in business college. She also held a main part in the production, which was the role of leader of the "Taboo" girls. Mrs. Woods presented the other big wheel to her husband, Mr. Woods, who, she said, did a thing that she thought no other husband would do. He did without a home for two months while the cast of the Fun Revue rehearsed every evening at the home. She presented the two smaller wheels to the remainder of her family, Miss Kathleen Woods and Hubert Woods, who also worked hard for the success of the Revue.

Mrs. Woods announced the Fun Revue would be presented at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, May 3, free of charge. It will be given under the auspices of Community Service. She also announced that the players will start work on "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" after the next presentation of the Fun Revue. The two leading roles of that play will be enacted by Fannie Stockbridge and George Wallace, former Morosco favorites, now retired and living in Glendale.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served. The cake was made by Mrs. L. W. Bradley, one of the "old gossips" of the comedy. There were 53 present, most of them players and players-to-be. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woodbury, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Steelman, Mrs. A. M. Rowe, Alice Woodbury, Cyril Holway, Lois Whiteman, Mrs. Edith B. Holway, Marjorie Holway, Lois Gillin, George A. Reddinger, Ruth Reddinger, Mrs. Alice Meyers, Miss Rosalie Smith, Isabel Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Few, Mr. C. E. Jones, Dorothy Morton, Mildred McCoubrey, Elsie Apset, Ruth Ryan, Patsy Medyette, Harold Chandler, Mrs. Evelyn West, Albert McCoubrey, Charles Badour, Thomas Woods, Jr., Mr. Steven Huntington, Mr. Hugh Blue, (president of Community Players); Dugald Blue, Mary Blue, Dr. Tunnison, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Bullock, Jean Corbet, Mae Scott, Edgar Shockley, Miss Fernando Perrera, Joe Perrera, Maurice Widdows, Ray Stinson, George Beauchamp and the Woods family, the Misses Dorothy and Kathleen, Hubert, Mr. Woods and the hostess, Mrs. Nanno Woods.

REV. TINNING TO DELIVER LECTURE

Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor, will have charge of the prayer meeting service at the Glendale Presbyterian church tomorrow evening. During the hour Mr. Tinning will give an address on "Mexico and Mission Work." The address will be illustrated by a number of fine stereopticon slides which will show general conditions in Mexico as related to missionary work and workers. It will also be clearly shown that Christianity is the only solution of Mexico's problems, and that we as a Christian nation have a special duty to perform in ministering to our benighted neighbors of the southern republic. The service will be followed by the "get acquainted hour." The new members are cordially invited to attend this service and strangers are always welcomed.

PRESBYTERIANS URGE PRESENCE AT CONCERT

Musical to Be Given by Miss Mottern to Benefit Church

Circle No. 2 of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, of which Mrs. W. A. Horn is chairman, is urgently pleading with all members of the organization and their families as well as with all friends, of the church to attend the concert to be given this evening at the church by the Misses Elizabeth Mottern, Bernice Hall and Jane Kennicott, at 8 o'clock.

It will be a musical event of no small importance and apart from the financial object to be served, the increase of the Circle's fund for the furnishing of the new church, friends of the artists and church should be present to greet them and to further the work to which they are so generously contributing. No tickets will be sold but there will be a silver offering collected.

Following are the members of the Circle: Mesdames W. A. Horn, Kelley, McAlliste:, Tepe, Mottern, Bassell, McLoughlin, Eyerick, Huston, Wilson, Cribbs, Stanley, Reynolds, Phillips, Foster, McCracken, McCurdy, Ford, Cook, Burson, Newton, Walton, Mishler, Collings, Koverman, Sloan, Bullinger, Wells, Wilde, Harrison, Tafemann, Templeton, Medd, Paseman, and Misses Alice and Sarah Thomas, and Helen Hazard.

ILLINOISANS ANNOUNCE BOTH PICNIC AND MEETING

When two of our three greatest Americans are mentioned the state of Illinois at once comes to every mind—Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant.

The Illinoisans will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Grant, Friday evening, April 27, when the Suckers will meet in the Music Art Hall, at 233 South Broadway. As part of the program of the evening, Henry J. Brubaker will speak briefly of Grant's life and service. Following the varied program there will be dancing. All Illinoisans will be heartily welcomed.

All day, Saturday, April 28, the Illinoisans of all our southland, will join in a monster picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, with basket dinners. County headquarters open all day, badges, hot coffee. The program following the picnic dinner hour will center around the life of General Grant and some Illinois orator will tell of his service to his country. Plans will be made to care for 15,000 Illinois Suckers. Mr. Brubaker will preside and lead the community songs. Ask your questions of C. H. Parsons, 10261, or call at Illinois headquarters in the Continental National Bank, Los Angeles.

THEODORE HAIG TO BE TOASTMASTER

At the Christian Church Wednesday evening, May 1, Theodore Haig will act as toastmaster at the fourth annual "Father and Son" banquet to be given by the Glendale Hi Ys.

He will introduce the boys who are to respond to the following toasts:

Jack Swearingen—"Our Dads."

Leroy Tepe—"The Y. M. C. A. Camp at Catalina."

Paul Cunningham—"Bringing Up Dad."

Neal Sooy—"What a Son Expects from his Father."

Howard Butterfield — "Team Work Between Father and Son."

Merle Waterman, who has entertained the Hi Ys several times with his clever piano stunts will feature the program.

Chong Kong, who was graduated last year from the high school in Honolulu and who joined the Hi Y here, will play the steel guitar. He is now attending Fullerton Junior College.

The main address of the evening will be made by Dr. George B. Taubman.

Hi Y officials are very busy finding "fathers" for boys whose dads will be unable to accompany them to the banquet, reports Secretary Rex Kelley.

R. T. W. CLASS TO MEET THURSDAY

The regular meeting of the members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. S. Jewsberry, 604 West Lexington drive. The afternoon will be spent in sewing.

ALPHA DELPHIAN CHAPTER TO MEET

The Alpha Delphian chapter of Glendale will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday, April 27 at 10 o'clock in the public library. The Ivy group with Mrs. V. Rupp as leader, will have charge of the program, which will embody "The Social Life of Rome."

GLENDALE BOYS VISIT THEIR KING COUNTY FARM

A party consisting of George Bentley, John Bentley, Ray Bentley and Park Arnold journeyed over the week-end to King county, where the boys looked over an 80-acre piece of farming land which they own there. They state that things along the agricultural line in that section are booming and that the farmers are unusually optimistic as to the season's crops.

If you should find a purse containing $400—eight brand new $50 bills, what would you do? See what they do in "Finders-Keepers" at Tuesday Afternoon Club Auditorium, corner Lexington and Central, Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28 at 8:15 o'clock.—Advt.

"ASK FOR THE OLD PATHS," IS TOPIC OF REV. EDMONDS

Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning preached on "The Old Paths," from the words: "Stand ye in the way, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls." (Jer. 6:16).

Jeremiah is speaking to his people, who have their backs turned to God looking for a new way. Redeemed at infinite cost, they wanted to pull loose from authority. So the prophet faced what moderns face. Those who say to God "We will not,"—then trouble begins and disappointment comes.

We are living in a wonderful age. Thank God for such a time and opportunity, there never was such. This hydro-electric age, every day something more wonderful comes. But we may forget the Giver.

In view of all things new, what shall be the message of the pulpit? The new men, what shall be their position—shall they be "modern?" Where is the latest word? Is a man justified in standing on the old standards? Folks say, "We must remember we are in a new world today." It comes right up against every man. You leaders, if you fail the people will fail; they will follow where you lead.

Has the minister any right to bring a new message in the pulpit? He preaches before God; he is ordained for that. I stand on the old Word with the old pillars. Go into the book stores and look at the titles of the religious books—how many of them are "The New vs. the Old," the work of "modern scholarship," questioning the supernatural? Hove we no scholarship on this side? Yes!

No man has a right to stand in the pulpit who disbelieves God's word. The time has come when we must stand. The minister who sets aside the Bible, let him go out of the pulpit into business. He has got to believe in Christ, God's only begotten Son, and that man is born in sin. He must hold Christ's death as our substitute, and that those who reject it are eternally lost.

They tell us, "The Bible is a good book, but no more inspired than Tennyson." They measure and discard the miraculous to suit their own judgment. But we will stand on the faith of our fathers though the heavens fall. This old world is hungry for bread. Christ said: "I am the bread of life; if any eat of Me they shall be satisfied." Without Christ the sting of death is still all there.

Modernism is good with all the new, very best things for the church. But hear me: In God's name don't you tamper with the message. Have everything, but leave the message alone!

GLENDALIANS ARE ENROUTE FOR BIG BEAR LAKE FISHING

A party, bound on catching its share of the wary trout of Big Bear Lake, on May 1st, will leave Monday afternoon for that high mountain country. The "outfit" will consist of Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Park Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ford, Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford and John Bentley. The Bentley boys own a beautiful cabin on the shore of Big Bear, to which they make occasional visits throughout the summer.

PURELY PERSONAL

Walter Potter, 729 North Maryland avenue, an employee of the Bentley Lumber company, who underwent an operation for appendicitis a short time ago, is rapidly recuperating. "Walt" claims he is gaining a "pound a day," which is "going some."

W. E. Mercer, real estate operator of 624 East Broadway, is making a business trip to Redlands today.

Mr. F. B. Perdew, with Smith & Babcock, has just returned from his weekly trip to Paso Robles and reports the country in splendid condition. They have had five inches of rain since Easter, insuring a bumper crop. In fact the almond trees are bending under their load of nuts. He reports business flourishing, having made eight sales of ranches from ten to forty-four acres.

KANSAS CITY MAN IS IN LOVE WITH GLENDALE

Chas. F. Gustafson of Kansas City, Mo., who has been spending quite a lot of his time in Glendale recently, expects to start for home tonight, but not to stay. His plan is to close out his immense plumbing contracting business there and come back to make his home in Glendale. He has been staying temporarily in Eagle Rock with a niece. Mr. Gustafson is a 32d degree Mason and mightily proud of it. He is completely "sold" on Glendale and means to take advantage of some of the opportunities for investment and profit that offer themselves so alluringly.

One morning Uncle Ed was shaving himself while his little nephew was an interested spectator.

"Robert," said Uncle Ed, "don't you want me to shave you too?"

"No, Uncle Ed," replied the little fellow. "My whiskers ain't ripe yet."

HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE GROWS IN FAVOR

Endorsements Becoming General Throughout the County

With endorsements from all sections of Los Angeles county, and hearty support promised by chambers of commerce, women's clubs and other organizations, the $7,000,000 bond issue will be submitted to the people on Tuesday, May 1. Upon passage of the bonds, much-needed additions will be built at the county hospital, county farm, Olive View sanatorium for the tubercular, and the construction of a new and up-to-date county jail and hall of justice will be started.

The issue—not a political one, by the way—is clear-cut, according to Mrs. A. J. Lawton, chairman of the organization committee for the campaign. Mrs. Lawton has made an exhaustive study of conditions at the institutions. The bonds should be passed, she says, for the following reasons:

The county is trying to take care of the sick and indigent in a county of 1,270,000 population, with buildings designed for 600,000.

Thirty thousand people were turned away from the county hospital last year because there was no room for them.

There is no out-patient department at the county hospital, no children's department, no adequate maternity department or adequate contagious disease department.

The county farm, built to care for 700, is today housing 1,025 inmates, and applicants cannot get in until someone there now dies.

Conditions at farm so crowded that more than 50 men are sleeping in the loft of a barn.

Olive View Sanatorium, with capacity of only 100 beds, cannot take in tubercular patients unless one of present inmates leaves.

Conditions in county jail are well known as tremendously over-crowded, making proper handling of prisoners impossible.

Bond issue would but slightly increase taxes, being payable over period of 24 years. Rate estimated at less than 2 cents per $100.

Additions must be made anyway, and if bonds are defeated, tax rate to pay for buildings estimated to be 25 to 30 cents per $100, and payable within 10 years.

"It is easy to see from the above," says Mrs. Lawton, "that it will be more economical to vote the bonds. However, from responses I have received from all sections of the county I know that the humanitarian side and civic pride appeal more strongly to the people of Los Angeles county. I know they will not fail when the necessity is so urgent.

"I trust every voter in Los Angeles county will go to the polls on May 1, and vote 'yes.' We must have a good turnout of voters to insure success. Everyone should vote."

CHOLLY CHAPLIN OPENS TONIGHT AT T. D. & L.

Several players who contributed to past screen successes of Charles Chaplin support the famous comedian in his latest First National feature comedy, "The Pilgrim," which is coming to the T. D. & L. Theatre tonight.

They are, Edna Purviance, again the comedian's leading lady; his brother, Sydney Chaplin; Mack Swain, "Chuck" Reisner, Loyal Underwood, Tom Murray and Phyllis Allen. Others who appear in support of the star are Kitty Bradbury, Dinky Dean and Mae Wells.

Chaplin plays the role of an escaped convict who masquerades in the clothing of a minister. But this deception brings the most excruciating complications down on the head of "The Pilgrim," for as a result he is compelled to take charge of a church in a small town.

Still more amusing situations arise when a crook, who had served time in the pen with the pseudo parson, come to the same town, recognizes his old "college chum" and worms his way into the social set.

A touch of romance and a dash of pathos have also been worked into the plot.

Atwater School to Have May Festival

The students at the Atwater school and members of the Parent-Teacher association are busy making preparations for their May festival parade to be held on May 1 at 11 o'clock. There will also be an exhibit, baby show and various booths where useful and fancy articles will be sold. Luncheon is to be served at noon.

"THE GIRL I LOVE" CLOSES TONIGHT AT GLENDALE

Charles Ray is said to do the greatest acting of his entire career in "The Girl I Loved," his second United Artists production, which closes at the Glendale Theatre tonight.

The work of the star is given added zest by the fact that "The Girl I Loved" is the story of the personal love affair of the poet, James Whitcomb Riley, as related in his poem of that title.

The picture is the quintessence of romance, the tale of two masculine hearts that beat for one girl—one of them fiercely. The ardor of this one (enacted by Charles Ray) brings into the plot many terrific incidents which serve to bring the star forward as an actor of powerful emotional force.

Those who know film history will recall that it was a role of this kind seven years ago which, over night, lifted Mr. Ray into the front rank of stars. To the part of the fierce lover in "The Girl I Loved," the popular actor now brings the ripened experience of the intervening years. Although "The Girl I Loved" is tragically emotional, it has many light and gay moments.

Johnson, of Bob Shuler's church, will sing at Jeter Tabernacle tonight.—Advt.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

'EAGLE ROCK, THE HOMELAND,' IS NEW SLOGAN

C. of C. Organizers Promote Interest Through Appeal of Home

"Eagle Rock—the Homeland." This is the slogan now being considered for adoption by the chamber of commerce for use on all Eagle Rock advertising matter—circulars, letter heads, posters, etc. As pointed out by Ben Schoube, in charge of the chamber of commerce organization drive here, the slogan characterizes Eagle Rock as it is—and always will be—a district of homes where people come to get away from the "roaring city." Eagle Rock is not destined for a commercial or industrial center, Mr. Schoube believes, but will always appeal to the newcomer as a beautiful place to build or buy, and settle down. Here, Mr. Schoube says, residents need not fear to build their ideal homes which they have planed for years perhaps, because there is no danger of the erection of a huge apartment or tenement building on an adjoining lot to shut out the view and sunlight. Mr. Schoube further points out the appeal of the slogan, "Eagle Rock—The Homeland" to the newcomer who sees the advertisement of Eagle Rock as a permanent home site—Home, one of the strongest calls in the world.

And the people who now live here will absorb that idea of Eagle Rock—their home until their pride is awake to the opportunities for the betterment of their "homeland."

The slogan itself, which will soon appear in conspicuous places all over the surrounding country, is based upon the fact that 90 per cent or more of the Eagle Rock residents own their own homes.

L. A. OFFICIALS DO NOT APPEAR AT MEETING

EAGLE ROCK, April 24.—The mayor and city council members of Los Angeles did not appear at the regular meeting of the local board of trustees as they were invited to by special communication last week. Early this morning the city clerk's office received a communication from H. H. Kinney, secretary to Mayor Cryer, to the effect that the mayor had a previous engagement of some weeks standing and could not attend the meeting last night, but with his regrets sent an official welcome to Eagle Rock people into the Greater Los Angeles Family, and further stated that he hopes annexation will be a source of pleasure and profit to all concerned.

Mayor Cryer also expressed the desire that he be able to meet with local residents in the near future at a more opportune time.

MALDAH MYERS IS HOSTES AT PARTY

Entertains 14 Young Friends Prior to Departure for Illinois

Maldah Myers, nine-year-old and already won over to the beauties of California, celebrated her ninth birthday, which will occur in a few weeks, with an elaborate and artistic party at the home of Mrs. C. W. Young, 906 Rock Glen avenue, where Mr. and Mrs. Myers have resided for the past year.

The festivities were held so far ahead of Maldah's birthday, at her special request. She was anxious to have her party in California rather than in the east, and her parents had plans laid to leave today for Peoria, Illinois.

Fourteen friends of the little hostess were present and refreshments were served after the games at a beautifully decorated long table on the pergola. An unusual note was added to the home and table decorations by the use of masses of wild flowers, chiefly in pastel shades.

Carroll Downs was the winner of the prize offered in the games., receiving a pretty and useful school lunch box.

After a short stay in Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Myers, like other who visit California for a year, will return to make this state their permanent home.

COUNTY SAVING IS INDICATED BY BOND ISSUE

Inefficiency of Old Jail and L. A. City Prison Is Shown

County taxpayers will be saved a material amount of money each year through the combination of the county and Los Angeles city jail, say county officials. It is for the purpose of financing the county's share of the proposed new hall of justice and jail that a bond issue of $2,000,000 will be submitted to the voters on May 1.

Twenty-five cents per day for each prisoner will be saved when such a building is erected, it is estimated, and in addition the prisoners will be handled much more efficiently than is possible in the antiquated buildinug used at present.

The county jail, built to handle 250 prisoners, now has 600, each of whom costs the county 68 cents per day to maintain.

With a jail such as is planned to be included in the new hall of justice, it is estimated that both county and city prisoners could be cared for at a cost of 43 to 45 cents per day for each, or in other words, a saving of more than one-third on the present cost.

Similar economies would result from new buildings at the county hospital and improvements at the county farm and sanatorium, say advocates of the county bond issue, which has the endorsement of many chambers of commerce, the County Medical Association, United Church Brotherhood, Women's clubs and many other civic bodies.

UNION OIL CO. PETITION IS TABLED

L. A. Authorities Will Be Given Opportunity to Decide on Request

EAGLE ROCK, April 24.—A petition to build an oil station on the corner of Central and Colorado, opposite the bank building was presented to the board of trustees at last night's meeting, by the Union Oil company, and because the trustees did not feel that they wished to take definite action upon the matter, it was tabled for future consideration by the Los Angeles authorities when they come into power here.

GREAT ACTIVITY AT CATALINA AS SUMMER NEARS

When Santa Catalina Island greets its summer visitors this year improvements costing in the neighborhood of a million dollars will either be completed or under way. Preparations are being made for handling the greatest influx of tourists and pleasure seekers in the famous island's history. William Wrigley, Jr., the "King of the Magic Isle," is leaving nothing undone, and is not sparing any expense to make the island resort more lovely and fascinating than ever, at the same time affording visitors the maximum of comfort and convenience.

One hundred and sixty new bungalettes will be ready for occupancy to be run in conjunction with the famous Island Villa and work will have been started on a board walk to Pebbly Beach, similar to the famous walk at Atlantic City. The walk will be a mile and a half long and will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000. A large force of workmen are now engaged in blasting a right-of-way. This promenade will be one of the most picturesque in the world.

A magnificent bathhouse, costing a quarter of a million dollars also will be ready shortly. It will be one of the largest and finest in America.

Remodeling of the Santa Catalina Country Club, which boasts the first golf course in Southern California, is now under way. In addition to a luxurious parlor and reception room with a large open fireplace, special quarters are being installed for women which will include showers, lockers and other features. The men's quarters also are being remodeled and will contain 150 lockers and hot and cold fresh water showers. The club's nine hole golf course, due to the island's peculiar topography is one of the sportiest courses in the world. An average of 200 people use the course daily during the summer season and quite a number are on the links the year round. The club promises to be more popular than ever this season.

As a result of the recent showers the island is a wide expanse of living verdure and it is more beautiful than it has been in a number of years, although it is always good to look upon. Wild flowers are in bloom everywhere.

The greatest crowd that ever ventured to the island, not excepting the annual July 4th "overflow," are expected to voyage to the island on September 10, next, when the sun will be in total eclipse. The eclipse will occur directly above the island and scientists from all over the United States will be present to study the interposition of the moon between the earth and the sun. According to scientists total eclipses of the sun offer brief but intensely interesting phenomena for the astronomer's study. A large party of scientists will come here from Chicago, a fund of $5000 having been endowed upon this body through the generosity of Mr. Wrigley that the world may learn something of the nature of the sun's corona which is as yet undetermined. So far the spectroscope and photography have not been sufficiently applied to the settling of the various problems which these phenomena present.

ATTEND SANTA MONICA BOULEVARD CONFERENCE

EAGLE ROCK, April 24.—Friday night several local chamber of commerce men attended the banquet at the Maryland hotel in Pasadena, of the Roads committee. The question of the construction of a boulevard from San Bernardino to Santa Monica was brought up for discussion and planning.

Mrs. Alice Winters of Highland avenue, Eagle Rock, entertained 12 young girls of the Congregational church Friday evening.

SMITH & BABCOCK OPEN NEW DEPARTMENT

Eleven Lots Left in the Wing Orange Grove

There is a reason for everything—and when you seek for it the rapid selling of this tract is easily explained by three things—

Location -- Price -- Terms

There isn't a spot in Glendale that equals it. You owe it to yourself to investigate the offerings in this tract before it is too late.

107 Lots Sold in 7 Weeks

Only local advertising—only two salesmen. A record unchallenged and unequalled in the history of Glendale subdivisions. Again we say there is a reason—the lots have sold themselves.

The Reason Is "Values"

"Corner" a little prosperity for yourself by accumulating a reserve—by investing wisely, in a homesite in this beautiful old Estate.

ONLY 11 LOTS REMAIN OF THE WING ORANGE GROVE TRACT ENTIRE OFFERING

Last of the Acreage Includes Some Choice Frontage Which Increases in Value as Announcement of Repaving Is Made Today

That numerous and varied are the reasons which bring people to California is the opinion voiced by Marvin Smith, subdivider and selling agent for the Wing Orange Grove tract, this morning, when he called attention to the fact that the work of extending Wing street from Maple street to Windsor road, was begun today.

"What I mean to say," said Mr. Smith, "is that years ago people were attracted to this vicinity by the profits to be made in the citrus industry. For instance, here is this tract of ours with 35-year-old orange trees, and now we are here tearing and digging them out so that homes and streets can be built.

"That's some contrast, isn't it? A few years ago people came here to grow oranges, and now they are coming here because they want homes."

Local records show, it is asserted, that Wing Orange Grove tract has been one of the fastest selling subdivisions ever opened in Glendale. On the market less than two months and comprising a total of 118 lots ranging in price from $1,400 to $2,200, this tract has been closed out in record-breaking time.

The statement is made that Mr. Smith, when asked by a competitor how he did it, said, "Well, it hasn't been due to any expert salesmanship on our part—our property has simply sold itself."

At last count made this morning by Maurice Healey, there were only 11 lots left, and most of those had been spoken for, Healey asserted.

Several of the remaining unsold lots have a frontage on Windsor road, and with the announcement that this street is to be re-paved and Wing street continued to intersect Windsor road, an added degree of attraction is given these lots that are still available.

The office for the Wing Orange Grove tract is located at 1200 East Colorado street, between Adams street and Verdugo road.

HARDING DEFINES HIS ATTITUDE ON WORLD COURT

the organization of groups or blocs to serve group interests, and urged that the primary be made an agreement of party expression rather than a means of party confusion or destruction.

The address of the president in full follows:

"Members of the Associated Press:

"During the closing days of the last congress I sent to the senate a communication asking its advice and consent to the adherence by the government of the United States to the protocol establishing the international court of justice. Out of this simple, nautral, normal proceeding has developed so much of mystery, so much of misunderstanding, so much waters that I welcome the opportunity on so appropriate an occasion to reveal to the American people both the purpose and the motives impelling.

"Ours is popular government through the agency of political parties, and it must be assumed that the course of the successful party which is at the same time an honest party, must be fairly charted by the platform of that party, and by the utterances of its candidates when appealing for popular approval. On that assumption it is seemly to recall the declarations of the party now in power relative to the promotion of international relationships.

"In 1904 the national platform of the Republican party said we favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration. Four years later, in the national convention of 1908, the party in its platform alluded to progress made in keeping faith with the previous declaration, and said:

"'The conspicuous contributions of American statesmanship to the cause of international peace so strongly advanced in The Hague conferences are occasions for just pride and gratification. * * * We indorse such achievement as the highest duty of a people to perform, and proclaim the obligation of further strengthening the bonds of friendship and good will with all the nations of the world.'

"In 1912 the Republican platform made a very explicit declaration referring to an international court of justice. I quote from the party covenant of faith:

"'Together with peaceful and orderly development at home, the Republican party earnestly favors all measures for the establishment and protection of the peace of the world, and for the development of closer relations between the various nations of the earth. It believes most earnestly in a peaceful settlement of international disputes and in the reference of all controversies between nations to an international court of justice.'

"The next formal and solemn pledge was in 1916. I quote again:

"'The Republican party believes that a firm, consistent and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best, as it is the only true way to preserve and to restore to us our rightful peace among nations. We believe in the peaceful setlements of international disputes, and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.'

"In 1920 the question of our foreign relationship was very acute. The senate had rejected the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations pact. The convention voiced its approval of the rejection, but was unwilling to pledge aloofness from the world. Therefore it said in its platform pronouncement:

"'We pledge the coming Republican administration to such agreements with other nations of the world as shall meet the full duty of America to civilization and humanity, in accordance with American ideals, without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment as its power in favor of justice and peace.'

"As a participant in the making of some of these platforms and as the banner-bearer of the campaign, I have a right to believe they spoke the party conscience so plainly that it is not easy to misconstrue.

"But there are other utterances which it is seemly to recall. I allude to the interpretation of the platform by the candidate in 1920. On August 28, 1920, speaking on the League of Nations proposal, I said frankly and very definitely I did not favor the United States entering the League of Nations. It was declared then that the issue, as defined by the candidates, 'involved the disparity between a world court of justice, supplemented by a world association for conference, on the one hand and on the council of the League on the other.' Quoting further from the same address, I said:

"'The one is a judicial tribunal to be governed by fixed and definite principles of law, administered without passion or prejudice. The other is an association of diplomats and politicians whose determinations are sure to be influenced by considerations of expediency and national selfishness. One of a government of laws and one a government of men.'

"In that same address I commended The Hague tribunal. One paragraph is especially appropriate to quote here:

"'I believe humanity would welcome the creation of an international association for conference and a world court whose verdicts on justifiable questions this country, common with all nations, would be willing and able to uphold. The decision of such a court or the recommendations of such a conference could be accepted without sacrificing on our part or asking any other power to sacrifice one iota of its nationality.'

"So much for political party history. I have quoted it because I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of popular government is based on fraud, and cannot hope to endure.

"In compliance with its pledges, the new administration, which came in power in March, 1921, definitely and decisively put aside all thought of the United States entering the League of Nations. It doesn't propose to enter now by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door. I have no unseemly comment to offer on the league. If it is serving the old world helpfully, more power to it. But it is not for us. The senate has so declared, the executive has so declared, the people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality. In further keeping with the faith the administration made a treaty of peace with Germany, a just treaty which so impressed our war-time enemy that when we came later on to set up a mixed claims commission to settle the claims of American nationals against Germany, that nation named one commissioner, we named one, and then, for the first time in the history of the international relationship, Germany asked us as a contending nation, to name the umpire, the third member, whose vote would decide all difficulties. I know of no like tribute to a nation's fairness in all the records of history.

"And then in the fulfillment of the pledge of free conference, the international conference on the limitation of armament was called, not in haste, not because someone was prodding, but as early as the barriers to success could be removed. The spirit of that conference and the achievement wrought have been written into history, and will grow immeasurably beyond the almost universal popular favor already accorded. There was not alone the triumph in reducing naval armaments and ending competition which was leading to oppressive naval strength and adding staggering burdens to the treasuries of competing powers; not alone the removal of every war cloud and every reason for conflict in the Pacific, so that now accord and concord abide, where suspicion and fear had previously dwelt; but we gave an example to the world of the conference way to peace, which time will appraise as the supreme accomplishment.

"Hardly had this gratifying work been accomplished before the administration began its endeavors for further fulfillment. Meanwhile an international court of justice had been established. It was an agency of peaceful settlement which had long been sought. Its establishment previously had failed because no agreement had been possible over the method of election of judges. The existence of the League of Nations offered a solution. Almost all the member nations had signed a protocol establishing the court. The members of the council in which the larger powers have permanent representation, affording one voting body with a veto on the members of the assembly consisting of representatives of all the nations, and member nations of the assembly could have a vote on the larger powers represented in the council. Here was a device for electing judges which removed the heretofore unsolvable problem of a satisfactory means of selecting them Not the council, but the nation members thereof, must vote in majority for the same candidates for which members of the assembly voted in a majority, else the election is void until a conference points the way to agreement.

"The court was established and is functioning. An American judge sits on the court, though we had no part in choosing him.

"Under the provisions of its establishment the United States can apply for a court decision on any justifiable question, even as any nation participating in its establishment. Perhaps the court is not all that some advocates of the court plan would have it, but it is in a large measure the fulfillment of an aspiration we long have boasted. So I thought and I still think, we ought to be a party to the agreement, assume our part in its maintenance, and give to it the benefit of such influence as our size and ideals may prove to be."

Johnson, of Bob Shuler's church, will sing at Jeter Tabernacle tonight.—Advt.

SCOUT ROUND TABLE IN CANYON IS CROWDED

Attendance Surpasses All Expectations; Good Program Furnished

The complimentary dinner and first annual meeting of the Troop Leaders' Roundtable held Monday evening at the Sunset Canyon Country Club surpassed the most optimistic expectations of those who were behind it, in both attendance and enthusiasm. Indeed, the program committee, of which M. F. Gilmer was chairman, is to be congratulated, for as one man put it, "a very delightful evening. The program was a wonder and the snap of it was keen to the core."

Frank C. Ayars made a topping good toastmaster and kept things moving along in fine shape. The outstanding man in the meeting was France Henry who was the source of a continual round of pep keeping everybody keyed up and feeling great with his songs, pep, and, of course, his Scotch stories. France also had his Boy Scout orchestra on hand which has grown from five to eight pieces and by the way every member of it belongs to Glendale Troop No. 2. The Scouts who played in the orchestra are Horace Brown, violin; Arthur Barton, saxophone; Dallas Kalbaugh, traps; Henry Sawyer, saxophone; John Klann, cornet; Roscoe Graham, cornet; Robert McReynolds, clarinet; and Kenneth Miles, piano. Their music was greatly appreciated and they were given rounds of applause.

A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Scout Council, welcomed the scoutmasters to the dinner, which was given in their honor by the executive board. "Nothing is more important for the scoutmaster to study than the scoutmaster's job," stated Leonard F. Collins, in speaking of the scoutmaster's job as he saw it. "To my mind," he added, "there are three essential things for the scoutmaster to consider. These are: First: Am I a good, clean, wholesome fellow? Second: Can I be a good fellow with the boys? and Third: Have I the ability to organize, intensify and put over real scouting in my troop? There is no richer man in the world than the scoutmaster who has the complete confidence of his boys."

The scout commissioner, Charles L. Chandler, made a very witty talk with here and there a slight remark concerning different persons in the room. He provoked considerable mirth but in the more serious part of his talk he emphasized with great earnestness that every scout leader present should bend every effort to solve the older scout problem. "To me this is the acid test of scouting. We need to keep these older boys in scouting for upon them are we going to depend for our future scout leaders. It is not one man's problem but each man's problem and we will do well to consider it very seriously."

The toastmaster called upon Roy L. Kent to say a few words, explaining that Mr. Kent was the daddy of scouting in the Verdugo Hills District. He asked Mr. Kent point blank if he thought that the efforts spent in behalf of the scout movement was worth while. Mr. Kent came back with a keen testimony of the value of scouting to the community. He told of the Rotary Club boys' week program and how Rotary was behind not only scouting but all boys' work 100%.

A novel stunt was the ten one-minute speeches which Mr. Ayars said would be run off in 20 minutes. "One Minute in Haines' Canyon" was handled by M. E. Hill. "One Minute in the Catalina Camp," C. W. Angier. "One Minute in the Court of Honor," Captain William C. Wattles. "One Minute in the Troop Leaders' Roundtable Meeting," H. B. Robison. "One Minute in the Patrol Leaders' Training Court," E. B. Thomas. "The Best Scout Good Turn I Know," Dr. E. H. Wilson. "The Best Scout Song I Know," France Henry. "The Best Scout Stunt I Know," Ray Sanders, and "One Minute as a Pioneer Scout Leader," Robert N. Taylor.

"The Boy Scout movement is the most positive, active organization in the world for boys," so declared Dennis H. Stovall, popular author of boys' short stories and Scoutmaster Troop No. 1, Sierra Madre. "There is not a thing negative in the whole scout program. You cannot find a 'don't' anywhere in the curriculum but instead everything is 'Come on boys, let's go!' I have never seen a bad boy in my life and what is more I never expect to. Yes, there are boys who go wrong and plenty of them, but in nine out of ten cases the reason they went wrong in the first place is because no one took an interest in them."

Following Mr. Stovall's stirring talk on the "Pay of the Scoutmaster," a short business session was presided over by M. E. Hill, the retiring chief councilor of the Roundtable. Frank C. Ayars, chairman nominating committee, made a report of the committee, submitting two candidates for each office. Ballote were then distributed and the election for new officers for 1923-24 was on. Here are the tallied returns:

Chief Councilor—H. Ben. Robison, Scoutmaster Troop No. 2, Glendale.

First Councilor—S. V. Jolliffe, scoutmaster Troop No. 1, Glendale.

Second Councilor—A. H. Davis, chairman troop committee, Troop No. 1, Glendale.

Pep Promoter, Francis J. W. Henry, committeeman, Troop No. 2, Glendale.

Mr. Hill, the retiring chief councilor, was presented with a beautiful solid gold miniature first class badge by Benjamin Robison on behalf of the scout leaders to show their appreciation of his services to the Roundtable.

Certificates of leadership were presented to M. E. Hill, H. B. Robison and Frederick Terzo by Capt. Wattles on behalf of the Court of Honor.

The meeting closed with all standing and repeating the scout oath and then followed the song of Taps.

Those present at the dinner were:

From Glendale: H. B. Howeth, Wm. C. Wattles, Roy L. Kent, Peter L. Ferry, A. E. Baron, M. J. Edwards, A. R. Eastman, Nelson Dick, H. B. Robison, Robert N. Taylor, Walter H. Packard, Frank C. Ayars, Harry B. Lockwood, Hal E. Leedom, W. L. Walker, S. V. Jolliffe, Col. James W. Everington, Benjamin Robison, Chas. L. Chandler, France Henry, E. E. Fram, Harold F. Benner.

From Burbank: E. B. Thomas, G. F. Stevens, Thomas F. Allen, Philip E. Zeiss, Bernie Loper, Leonard F. Collins, Harold Pomeroy, Dr. E. H. Wilson, Dr. A. E. W. Yale and W. F. Holloman.

From Tujunga: M. E. Hill, M. F. Gilmer, Leo L. Lang.

From Eagle Rock: Ray B. Sanders and Fred W. Schnoor.

From La Crescenta: C. W. Angier and A. C. Cox.

From Sierra Madre: Dennis H. Stovall.

"How awful greedy you are!" said one little girl to another. "You took the biggest apple from the basket just as I was going to take it myself."

M. H. Kanaga Is Again Visited by Sorrow

The Glendale friends of M. H. Kenaga, formerly of 547 Oak street and now of Long Beach, are extending sympathy to him in his recent sorrow. Mr. Kenaga was called to Colorado last week on account of the death of his only son, Fred C. Kenaga, of Limon, Colo. Mr. Kenaga lost his only daughter, Dr. Minerva H. Kenaga, and only remaining brother, D. H. Kenaga, within one week last June. This recent hereavement leaves Mr. Kenaga alone with his daughter-in-law and four children.

BEAUTIFUL

BELLEHURST PARK

IN THE HEART OF GLENDALE

NOW SELLING
LIKE WILD-FIRE!

This magnificent old estate—an enchanted garden in the midst of the fastest forward marching city in America.

Come today—at once—and see with your own eyes these wonderful home-sites covered with fine old palms, magnolias, oaks, and hundreds of bearing orange, Lemon and olive trees.

We are creating here in Glendale a unique residence park for Southern California—one that will rival and excel in beauty the thousand acres of distinctive home communities we have developed in Piedmont and Oakland in the San Francisco Bay region.

Bellehurst Park is dedicated to fine homes. Restrictions are carefully worked out to insure steadily increasing values. All city improvements of the highest type are now being installed at our expense. Pacific Electric trains only 2 blocks away. Four schools within 5 blocks. Very easy terms to first buyers.

DUNNING METHOD OF MUSIC MAKES PRACTICE PAY

By MRS. W. O WIDDOWS

I called at the Cavanan studio at 1:30 North Orange the other day, just in time to hear Miss Carrow give a Dunning class lesson to a group of little folks five and six years of age.

The children were alert and interested and when I was told they had only been taking the Duuning work for three months I was indeed surprised at their accomplishments.

They each had their turn playing a duet with "teacher"—counting carefully and watching that the "fingers curved must stay," as their little song tells them.

Then the treble and bass clefs were written upon the blackboard with the "borrowed" and "added" lines and spaces and now a lively contest was on, for each one was trying to say it first, because a record was kept at one side of the board and the one who named the most notes correctly was given a gold star at the end of the lesson. And 20 gold stars mean a bead, and the most beads at the end of the year mean a Dunning pin of gold.

Then Miss Carrow wrote several bars of music on the board in 2-4 time and the children quickly built them on the table with their rythm sticks. How interested and happy those children were and their mothers and Miss Carrow told me they were never ready to leave the studio, and would cry when something prevented them from taking their lessons.

Your little folks would be interested, too, in this wonderful method, for it makes music and practicing a pleasure and both mother and child are spared the dread of the hours spent in trying to learn to play the piano.

Mr. Cavanah would be glad to have you telephone, Glendale 1727, the studio, for a Dunning appointment to hear Miss Carrow and her class as they work and play together.

GOLDEN SPANISH CAFE TO OPEN HERE

The Golden Spanish Cafe, 111 South Orange, will open its doors to the public on Wednesday with dinner at 6:30 p. m., and an entertainment, which promises to be one of the best given in Glendale in many months. The Shrine orchestra, noted for its fine music, will be on hand, and girls dressed in Spanish costumes will feature the program.

For the past several weeks preparations have been under way in fitting up the Golden Spanish Cafe, which is one of the truly interesting cafes of this section. Everything has been carried out on the Spanish order, including beautiful scenery pictures on the wall, imported tapestries and interior decorations. The opening will give some idea of the kind of place Glendale is to have, and for the first time it will have a cafe that will serve Spanish dishes and cooking exclusively. Mrs. G. Fender, the owner, in speaking of the venture, said: "Glendale has grown sufficiently large enough to support a high class Spanish Cafe, and we are going to give the people the best in this line. Spanish meals will be served from 45 cents up, and the diners will be provided with the best the market affords. We shall carry out the old Spanish idea in serving, and the waitresses will wear morning and evening serving costumes. We extend a special invitation to the people of Glendale and surrounding country to be with us Wednesday night, and we assure one and all a good time."

TOMBSTONE WARNS AUTOISTS
[By Associated Press]

READING, Pa., April 24.—A tombstone, erected near Hughes hill, on the Pottsville pike near Hamburg, is a grim reminder to reckless automobilists of the dangers of careless driving on the highway.

The stone, about four feet high, has the word "Dangerous" at the top. On the side toward Reading is a skull and crossbones, with the announcement, "14 miles to the nearest hospital."

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK AND ITS ENVIRONS

'WHAT WILL YOU DO TO EARN YOUR LIVING?' IS QUESTION PUT TO HI GH SCHOOL PUPILS

Burbank Girls and Boys Show Wide Range of Choice of Professions, Choosing Anything From a Jazz Drummer to an Editor

How times do change! No longer do girls want to hurry up and wear their hair piled upon the top of their head, and wear long skirts so that they can teach school. Now they want to do almost anything else but teach.

In an ambition survey which F. S. Moore, principal of the high school, and Miss Katherine Allen, dean of the girls; made—where each child was asked to give, first, second and third choice of their future vocations, only four girls out of the June graduating class had teaching for first choice.

There are now 270 girls and boys registered at the school and from them there are 203 answers on file. Of these 106 are girls, and 97 are boys, but in the senior class the replies are from only eight boys and 18 girls.

Especially since the war have girls desired various professions and sometimes it seems as if they are anxious to express their individualities by taking up some new line wherein they will be entirely "different" from the common run.

One girl wants to be a manager of a ranch, another desires to be a detective, two want to run beauty parlors, one desires to be a farmerette. One girls prefers to be nurse, but her third choice would be an opera singer.

The boys do not show such a wide range of occupations. Thirty of them want to be engineers, either civil, electrical or mechanical. Two are hoping to be aeronautical engineers while there are thre hoping to be aviators.

Many boys and girls have chosen professions which will require college educations but one or two have put down "go to college" as they future ambition. While at a superficial glance it might seem an odd goal, yet many people never have known until their senior year in college the definite line of work they wished and the first three years in college have helped them to make the wisest choice when they did decide.

One of the girls in the June class rather thinks she would like to be a saxophone instructor; one senior has put down for first choice court interpreter. One thing that some psychologists might worry over is the fact that only a few girls put down "home maker" as a goal. In fact, out of the more than 100 girls only one lone girl indicated that she would care to keep house as first choice. A few said "housewife" for third choice. It might be, however, that girls do not look upon the business of being a wife and mother as a profession. As high school days are usually four or more years from wedding days it is evident that many of them realize the necessity for having a vocation other than that of "housewife."

One boy wants to be either an undertaker or an editor, one wishes to be an oil driller, one a ball player, one an athletic coach, while two can see where the money lies in being a theatre manager. Purely social service work, as such, is not listed among the boys' ideas of life. Not one has put down "preacher." Among the girls, several have hoped to do welfare work. The nearest "uplift" occupations a boy has chosen is that of being a "professor," or five of them desired to be doctors. One boy wants to be either a mechanical engineer or a jazz drummer.

When a boy has three choices and only puts down the one word "Art" for all three it looks as if that boy is sure to be an artist, for he evidently has no second or third choice, but intends to be what he sets out to be. Another boy was determined to be a lawyer, while another had only one desire and that was to be an aeronautical engineer.

Sometimes there seems to be a wide range between the choice, for instance, a girl would be either a buyer of women's clothes or a pipe organist. One young maiden would be either a singer or a police woman.

High school days are the days when girls and boys plant to set the world aright, the time when ideas and ideals stir the mind. Youth plants to make the impossible come true. Especially at this time of year, when graduation days are near does the problems of the future hold their minds. For this reason gorls and boys of the school are making plans whereby they can reach their goals.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary, Shawnee, Oklahoma, Board of Commerce

THAT good roads are essential to the development of any community.

THAT a growing community must have good roads radiating in every direction or lapse back to where it was in the beginning.

THAT in many sections, because of poor roads the rural sections are practically isolated from their natural trading points.

THAT many sections stand between good roads and ruin.

THAT in sections where good roads are not first in the thoughts of the business farmers and the city business men, means that the lack of energy, intelligence, progressiveness and far-sightedness of these men is holding back from the community things that would prove of incalculable benefit to the social and commercial life of a community.

THAT now is the time to boost good roads.

THAT live community builders through cloud and sunshine, depression and prosperity, stand fast in the faith of better things for their community. Boost good roads!

THAT in spite of their work many communities have a group of men who try to put a spike in the work being done.

THAT every citizen is either for or against his community—if he is for it he should boost it and work for it!

Y.M.C.A. GROUP TO MEET TONIGHT

The group of Y. M. C. A. boys with Mr. Thomas as leader, will meet this evening at the Skeet home on West San Fernando. The boys will have their regular Bible lesson and business meeting followed by games.

The twenty boys in this group are finding the meetings at the various boys' homes a happy event in the week's activities and are showing great interest in the class study hour.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS WITH CRUEL ECZEMA

Hokara Quickly Cures

"Gentlemen: Words cannot describe the suffering I endured for more than 20 years from Eczema on my limbs and feet. They were so sore and tender that I was oblized to have cushions put in bed to keep the bedclothes from touching me. After treating with different doctors without getting any relief my attention was finally called to Hogora. It gave almost instant relief. My limbs and feet were healed and the skin made soft, white and pliable were before they looked like dried beef. I strongly advise anyone suffering from any skin disease to use Hokara. It is Yours. A. Gray, Andover, Ohio."

Hokara is a non-greasy, stainless, antiseptic cream that goes right to the source of the trouble through the poors. All first-class drug stores can supply you on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Jensen Drug Co.—Advertisement.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST SCRAPBOOK CLIPPINGS

No. 35—Ave Maria (Bach-Gounod)

Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750) belonged to a very large family of musicians. The four generations of Bachs, from the time of Sebastian's great grandfather to his own time, represented large families. Sebastian himself had eight children by his first wife and 13 by his second, and yet a century after his death, the Sebastian family was extinct.

At the time when Sebastian's fame had become fully established, there were as many as 30 organists in Germany, all Bachs. Sebastian was the supreme master. He became the greatest organist that ever lived.

Bach wrote masses, oratorios, anthems, preludes and fugues. He has been called the "Father of German Music." Musicians before his day made almost no use of the thumb and little fingers in piano playing. Bach was not satisfied with this system, so he invented a new system of fingering, which is used today. Bach is considered the greatest musician of the ages.

No. 36—Bridal Chorus "Lohengrin" (Wagner)

In early life, Richard Wagner (1813-1883) was associated with actors, as his stepfather, a cultured gentleman, belonged to the stage. Wagner became interested in the works of Shakespeare, which awakened in him considerable literary ability, and he began writing plays. When 15 he wrote a tragedy in which he introduced 42 characters, but before the third act, he had killed them all and was forced to have them reappear as ghosts in order to finish the play. His genius for music was unusual. He could learn most from hearing the works of great composers. Wagner's first operas were not well received because they were different from the old school of opera. Under Wagner's direction, an opera house was built at Bayreuth which was and is the ideal home of Wagnerian opera. The greatest artists sing there and people of the musical world go to Bayreuth to hear these wonderful productions. Wagner was a remarkable man. He wrote the librettos for his operas, coached the singers who were to sing them, and was his own stage manager and orchestra director. In musical history, Wagner stands out as does no other composer.

In years, "The Bridal March" has reached a high place in public favor as a wedding march. In the opera "Lohengrin" this chorus accompanies Elsa and her bridesmaids in their progress from the palace to the chapel, where the wedding with Lohengrin is to take place.

Nocturne in E Flat, Chopin (1933-1897)

Frederic Francois Chopin was a very delicate, sensitive child. He was so susceptible to the effects of beautiful music that as he listened he would often cry silently as though his little heart would break. He was a genius. When he was 9 years of age, his parents allowed him to play in public at a charity concert. He wore a new jacket and a beautiful sailor collar, which to him was a very important matter. He would often say, "I can't play if I am not dressed up."

Chopin possessed a wonderful power over people. Even as a lad when his playmates became noisy and uncontrollable, he would steal to the piano and begin to play; immediately all confusion would be stilled. Sometimes he would put out the light, tell a story in words, and then express it on the piano.

Chopin loved nature with his whole soul, and was especially fond of the scenery of his own country, Poland. The strain of sadness through so many of Chopin's compositions is because of his deep sorrow over Poland's sufferings.

Late in life Chopin said that one of the greatest compliments he had ever received was the fact that during one of his concerts, a German trader allowed his pipe to go out unheeded, so engrossed was he in the music.

Chopin was the poet of the piano. He not only played beautifully, but composed much exquisite music for his beloved instrument. The fact that programs of great pianists are by Chopin testifies to his popularity as a composer today.

Nocturne in E Flat

This is probably the best known and most celebrated of all Chopin's works. It certainly did more for his popularity in Paris than anything he had published up to that time. It is this particular piece that amateurs generally mean when they ask one to play "Chopin's Nocturne."

This is one of the shortest of the Nocturnes and is a poem of tender and devoted love. The scene is a garden—any garden—so it be beautiful. The melody is the song of the ideal troubadour, pouring out his heart to the night and his listening lady.

Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust" Gounod (1818-1893)

Charles Francois Gounod, the most famous of modern French composers, was born in Paris, June 17, 1818. His parents were cultured people, who, discovering musical talent in their little son at an early age, gave him many advantages. He developed a musical voice, and having ability to read music, was made soprano soloist in a boy choir. At the age of 16, he was admitted to the Paris conservatory, where he won a grand prize as a pianist.

At one time he studied to become a priest, but after studying church music in Rome for three years, he decided to devote his life and talent to music. He gave vent to his deeply religious nature by writing many sacred compositions. He also wrote several operas. After some successes and many failures he produced "Faust" and found himself world famous.

"Soldiers' Chorus." This chorus is sung in the fourth act of the opera "Faust." Valentine, a captain, is victoriously returning from war with a troop of soldiers. As they approach, they sing the spirited "Soldiers' Chorus" in which they praise their Fatherland.

Johnson, of Bob Shuler's church, will sing at Jeter Tabernacle tonight.—Advt.

MONDAY'S PERMITS AMOUNT TO $8,625

Monday set a good example in Burbank building permits. Between 8 o'clock and 9:30 Monday morning, the building inspector, Elmer Dale, issued permits amounting to $8,625. Permits were given to:

John McIrvin, Angeleno and Main; garage	$ 200
W. H. Hammer, 738 N. Walnut avenue; dwelling	3,000
Edward Fisher, 719 N. Olive; dwelling	3,000
Julian Stroble, Pacific avenue; dwelling	2,300
Oscar Olsen, 718 Magnolia avenue	125
Total	$8,625

VISITORS ARE FINED $20 EACH

"Los Angeles" ordered Cruzo Santos and Julian Rodereges, instead of the ordinary, commonplace "Home, James," when Chief Cole and Officer Long of the Burbank police force awakened them from a drunken sleep, Sunday night, and loaded them into the police car. They had with them a half pint of whisky in a bottle in addition to the liquor they carried inside.

A hearing was set for Monday afternoon, and Judge Crawford fined them each $20.

GATES BUYS TRANSFER

Marion Gates, who a short time ago, bought half interest in the Roberson Transfer company, has now bought the other half interest, so he is the sole owner of the concern.

CHILDREN ENJOY FINE MUSICALE

Pupils Appreciated Recital Arranged by Mrs. Walter Fisher

Pupils of the John Muir junior high school greatly appreciated the very fine musicale which was arranged for them Monday afternoon by Mrs. Walter Fisher. They enjoyed the program especially because they have been studying each one of the numbers which were on the program and could understand the fine qualities of the music.

The songs of Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Fisher and the violin selections of Kristina May Krum, with Mrs. Fisher as accompanist, held the closest attention of the large audience of children. The program began with two violin numbers by Kristina May Krum, "Melody in F" (Rubenstein) and "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell). The initial number prepared the children for a delightful hour of music.

Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Fisher sang the Italian folk song "O Sole Mio." Delicacy of expression and the charming blending of the two beautiful voices made this a lovely bit of the splendid afternoon.

"Berceuse" (Godard) sung by Mrs. Valentine, revealed more fully the pleasing qualities of her voice. Kristina May Krum then played "Traumerei" (Schumann) with fine expression. Following was the duet of the rhythmic, dreamy "Barcarole" (Offenbach), sung by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Fisher, giving happiness to the hearers.

"By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Lieurance), as sung by Mrs. Scott delighted the audience tremendously. Her faultless interpretation brought out the unusual cadence and beauty of the Californian's art.

"Minuet in G" (Beethoven) played by Kristina Krum came next. The young violinist played this lightly and with deft fingers.

Mrs. Scott sang "From the Land of Skyblue Waters" (Cadman) as her last number. She sang this in rich and colorful style and the children will be looking eagerly for a return musicale some time soon.

"My Heart At Thy sweet Voice" (Saint-Saens) sung by Mrs. Valentine closed the very delightful program. Mrs. Valentine well brought out the glowing beauty of this composition.

Two other numbers that were to have been given will be given at Thursday morning's assembly because the musicians did not have their music in time for Monday's program. Mrs. Fisher will sing "The Lass With the Delicate Air" and Mrs. Valentine will sing Massenet's "Elegie."

A little spice was added to the program by Mrs. Fisher telling something of the composers and asking the children in the audience to spell their names. She gave such explanations as that the meaning of the word barcarole was "boat song."

MRS. YALE IS HOSTESS

Mrs. A. E. W. Yale entertained Mrs. Starkweather of Denver, Colorado, former owner of the Savoy hotel at Denver, as her house guest, Sunday. Mrs. Starkweather expects to visit in Southern California for a month. She is stopping at the Ambassador hotel.

SECTION 2. That said contemplated work or improvement in the opinion of said Council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit and will affect and benefit the lands and district hereinafter described, and said Council hereby declares that the district in said City of Glendale benefited by said work or improvement and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, is all that portion of said City included within the following exterior boundary lines, to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the northerly line of Colorado Street where said northerly line is intersected by the northerly extension of the westerly line of Lot 45, Tract No. 6215, as per map recorded in Book 67, pages 20 and 21, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California; thence easterly along the northerly line of Colorado Street to its intersection with the northerly extension of the easterly line of Lot 47 of said Tract No. 6215; thence southerly along said northerly extension across Colorado Street and along the easterly line of said Lot 47 to the southeasterly corner thereof; thence southeasterly across an alley to the northeasterly corner of Lot 57 of said Tract No. 6215; thence southerly along the easterly lines of Lots 57 to 76, both inclusive, and Lot 78 of said Tract No. 6215 to the northerly line of Maple Street; thence southeasterly across Maple Street to the northeasterly corner of Lot 79 of said Tract No. 6215; thence southerly along the easterly lines of Lots 79 and Lots 81 to 89, both inclusive, of said Tract No. 6215 and their southerly extension across Windsor Road to its intersection with the southerly line of Windsor Road; thence westerly along the southerly line of Windsor Road to its intersection with the southerly extension of the westerly line of Lot 93 of said Tract No. 6215; thence northerly along said southerly extension across Windsor Road and along the westerly line of said Lot 93 to the northwesterly corner thereof; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Lot 93 to the southwesterly corner of Lot 118 of said Tract No. 6215; thence northerly along the westerly lines of Lots 118 to 111, both inclusive, of said Tract No. 6215 to the northwesterly corner of said Lot 111; thence westerly along the southerly line of Lot 108 of said Tract No. 6215 to the southwesterly corner of said Lot 108; thence northerly along the westerly line of said Lot 108 to the southerly line of Maple Street; thence northerly in a direct line across Maple Street to the southwesterly corner of Lot 22 of said Tract No. 6215; thence northerly along the westerly line of said Lot 22 to the northwesterly corner thereof; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Lot 22 to the southwesterly corner of Lot 25 of said Tract No. 6215; thence northerly along the westerly lines of Lots 25 to 42, both inclusive, of said Tract No. 6215 to the northwesterly corner of said Lot 42; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Lot 42 to the southwesterly corner of Lot 43 of said Tract No. 6215; thence northerly along the westerly lines of Lots 43, 44 and 45 of said Tract No. 6215 and their northerly extension across an intervening alley and Colorado Street to the point of beginning, excepting from the above described district any portion of any public street or alley which may be included therein. Reference is hereby made to Plat No. 811A, approved by the Council of the City of Glendale, on which the said assessment district is shown within red colored border lines.

SECTION 3. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California approved February 27, 1893, and the Acts amendatory thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

SECTION 4. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described herein and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof; such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, the area in square feet of each of such lots, pieces or parcels of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district.

SECTION 5. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Plats referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All Specifications referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. Said Maps, Plans, Cross-sections, Profiles and Specifications are hereby referred to for a more particular description of said work and made a part hereof.

SECTION 6. The Glendale Daily Press, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in said City of Glendale, is hereby designated as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention shall be published in the manner and by the persons required by law, and in which the Street Superintendent shall publish notice of the passage of this Resolution of Intention.

SECTION 7. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to close up, vacate and abandon for street and alley purposes, that portion of that certain thirty (30) foot road lying westerly of and contiguous to the westerly line of Lot 1 of said Thom and Ross Tract, between the westerly extension of the northerly line of said Lot 1 and the northwesterly extension of the southwesterly line of said Lot 1.

The district to be assessed to pay the damages, costs, and expenses for said improvement is described in and reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 1905 for further particulars of said work.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science: The Revelation of Truth

By MRS. BLANCHE K. CORBY, C. S. B.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The message that Christian Science brings to the world today is one of good cheer; it is one of hope, comfort, health—complete salvation. To a world stricken with suffering and unrest, Christian Science offers deliverance from all the discords of life. Every one desires to live because life is natural and normal, and a knowledge of the best means whereby life may be conserved and made harmonious is indeed most worthy of one's thought and consideration. Humanity generally has not looked to God for daily and hourly help in times of trouble. It has not believed that God is available under all conditions and circumstances; but there is no human condition so desperate, no disease so obstinate, that man cannot be released from it through divine aid, for God, who is Love, is all powerful.

GOD

The highest concept of God to be attained is that of Love, expressed in the compassionate, loving Christ Jesus, who came "to save that which was lost." Through what is called the supreme sacrifice, he overcame death on the cross, revealing to men their God-given dominion. The one consciousness of Love can have no consciousness of anything but love. It is universal love poured out to all mankind. Jesus taught that the tender love of the fatherhood of God is greater and can do more for us than the limited human concept of love. He said, "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" Another example of Love understood and practiced is found in this age in the life of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. Because of Mrs. Eddy's love for humanity, her life was one of loving obedience to God, devoted to the establishment of Christian Science on earth, that all might share the blessing it bestows in health and happiness. Her whole concern was to reveal to her fellowmen Christ's plan of salvation. This concept that God is Love, is made practical in a more loving brotherhood; it destroys all strife, hatred and revenge, and takes away the desire to injure any way one's brother. A right sense of love is not talking but doing. As Mrs. Eddy has so beautifully expressed it, it is Love "reflected in love" (Science and Health, p. 17),

We have barely touched the hem of Christ's garment today in our understanding that God is Love, but the glimpses already gained have enabled Christian Scientists to heal the sick and to be helpful to humanity. This impelling force of Love will continue until all shall know Him from the least unto the greatest, and God's love be manifested among men.

Christian Science teaches that to know God aright it must be understood that God is Principle. Why should it be thought strange that Christian Scientists believe God to be divine Principle? Christian Science is the Science of Christianity, and all scientific demonstrations, whether physical or mental, are the result of an understanding of laws and the employment of them. Mathematics, music, architecture, everything that is worked out according to rule or method is in accordance with principle; then it should not be considered inconsistent that man, the spiritual image and likeness of God, is governed by the law of divine Principle instead of being left to the chance and change of human belief. The meaning of the word "principle" is: "Basis or foundation which governs all that proceeds from it." We find therefore that it is the most appropriate term for God.

Every thinking person cognizes things that exist; because of his belief in the existence of things, he believes that there is a first cause or creator. Christian Science proclaims that God is cause of all created things. It declares God to be Omnipresence and Omnipotence, the all-inclusive infinite One, or, as Mrs. Eddy so comprehensively states the "Adorable One," which includes all life, law, power, intelligence and action. This all-inclusive Omnipotence or the One Presence is being understood as Mind. The one omnipotent Mind or one conscious Being is expressed after its own kind, then all that expresses it must be mental because the activity of mind is thought. Everything is mental, whether upon a good or evil, a spiritual or material, plane. All that we are conscious of today is the result of thought; that we exist as mortals is the result of thought that has gone before. All the history of the past and all present human activity are mental. Every human achievement—every discovery brought to light—is the result of somebody's thought. If it were possible for thought to cease on earth today, complete inaction, which is death, would result; all that engages man's attention, the daily routine of business, of home and family, the great manufacturing activities, agricultural development, all the pursuits of life, would cease. Every complaint of the body is expressed through thought. If man could not think he could not be conscious of bodily pain and discomfort. The most dramatic event in all history, as well as the most tragic, was the crucifixion of Jesus, when the evil thought of his time found expression in the thought of one man; while the most sublime event, the most divine expression of God's love to humanity, was the resurrection of Jesus brought about by Jesus' right thinking when he overcame death and revealed the way of salvation for all mankind.

SALVATION

Salvation is gained through right thinking. Many theories of salvation have been presented to the world, but only one has proved satisfactory and unfailing. Christ Jesus came as the Way-shower; he declared and demonstrated a full and complete salvation. Jesus did not teach that a man must die in order to be saved or reach God; nowhere in the Scriptures is found any authority for saying that he considered evil and death at all necessary or in accord with divine law; but he did say, "If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death."

When the beginner in Christian Science reads in the Scriptures that God pronounced His creation good; that He was satisfied with it; that He was entirely satisfied with man made in His own image and likeness; that this man was given dominion over all the earth; the question is sure to arise, What has taken place that man is not expressing his God-given dominion today? Christian Science reveals to this age the fact that nothing has happened to weaken or to destroy man's God-given dominion. It is impossible that man, made in the image and likeness of God, could fall into evil and sin; yet the belief that he did so fall has caused all the sorrow and suffering on earth. The beginner further asks, "If God is infinite good, where did evil come from, what is its cause and origin?" When we learn to think in accord with divine Mind, we find that evil in individual consciousness disappears and that, therefore, the only cause for evil or sin is a false belief, a wrong thought, and not a spiritual fact. In the degree than man ceases to think evil, evil and sin disappear; and proportionately as that disappearance takes place, goes all the mystery of evil, all its presence and power.

HEALING

The first step toward freedom from evil is generally taken through the desire for physical healing. The healing method of Christian Science, the healing method used by Jesus, is unique, but there is no mystery, nothing supernatural about it. It is the simple teaching of Jesus, the spontaneous and natural result of better thinking. The physical healing in Christian Science is not for the purpose of making a man more comfortable in materiality, of enabling him to eat more food without discomfort, or to indulge more freely in appetites and passions without evil effect, but the whole purpose of physical healing is to reveal the truth about life. Christian Science heals the sick to establish the fact of the reality of God or good, and it heals the sinner to prove the unreality of sin or evil. Christian Science does not teach that sickness and evil do not seem real to the human consciousness; but it does teach that the human consciousness is a false consciousness that expresses itself according to its false beliefs in all the phenomena of evil and sickness, and that healing through correction or overcoming is accomplished only through the understanding of God and His law.

Throughout human history man has deified himself; he has created God in the image and likeness of a mortal instead of finding that he himself is the image and likeness of God. Because God has been believed to be a mighty being jealousy, anger, revenge, visiting His wrath upon His people; the belief that might is right has grown to the utmost. As the result of this growth human history is a record of the cruelty of the human will. Because of the deification of the mortal or material mind and its beliefs, the statement is sometimes ignorantly made that the healing of Christian Science is wrought through suggestion, or the action of the human mind,—one mind controlling another human mind in some mysterious way. In order to correct this accusation made against his healing works, Jesus said, "If I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out?" and showed that evil cannot correct evil. The human mind, unillumined, and uninstructed in spiritual law, cannot possibly understand spiritual healing, nor the means by which it is accomplished; so it insists that it must be after its own method—that is, the operation of the human will through hypnotism or what is popularly called modern psychology. Nothing can be farther from the truth.

The teacher of mathematics does not subject his pupil to a state of hypnosis in order to teach the science of numbers, but reveals to him the principle of mathematics, the truth about numbers. If each step in the solution of a problem were mentally imposed upon the more yielding thought of the child, he would not be trained to think for himself; on the contrary, he would be schooled in the habit of responding to suggestion from without. The pupil to be alert and progressive, must be taught to think correctly; he must be free from the personal domination and control of the teacher. In like manner, the Christian Science practitioner knows that the human will must be divorced from every Christian Science treatment; indeed, the human will cannot give a Christian Science treatment. The practitioner's part in the healing work is to reveal to the patient the Science, or truth of being. This truth at work in the consciousness of the sufferer heals and saves. The human mind believes fundamentally in both good and evil, and that which has evil as a fundamental quality cannot heal. It is wholly through the action and operation of spiritual law that the sick are healed. Christian Science treatment creates a desire to know and to do the will of God. It is regenerating in its influence. Mesmeric suggestion and hypnotism weaken the subject's ability to do what is right. His subjection to another mentality in the least degree is in itself an evil. Healing is not accomplished through concentration nor holding the thought for others, but through consecration of thought and purpose and love for God and man. The reading of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," has cured thousands of sickness and sin; one hundred pages of the book contain testimonials of healing through the reading alone. No mesmeric suggestion is used in the book to accomplish such results; no human domination or control is exercised, but the revelation of Truth contained in those pages opens the understanding, and healing follows as a natural consequence.

The objection is sometimes made that Christian Science practice does not take into account the symptoms of disease. It does, however, recognize the symptoms, but only to analyze the mental cause which has produced the physical suffering. If the mental cause is found to be hatred, fear, resentment, grief or anxiety, what prescription could be administered internally, or what application could be applied outwardly that could possibly correct such cause of disease? Because the popular forms of healing deal with effect instead of the cause, there is a long list of so-called incurable diseases; incurable, only because some men have said that they cannot cure them. Jesus never said that disease is incurable or difficult to heal, but instead he did say of the woman who had been bowed together for many years, that Satan had bound her; in other words, her belief in evil had caused her physical infirmity. The majority of cures wrought by Christian Science have been of diseases pronounced incurable, and the great ranks of Christian Scientists today are composed largely of those who have been compelled to turn to God for aid because some man had said he could not heal them. That is indeed a happy day when we learn that man cannot heal, but that God can and does.

Centuries of time can never make a lie or false claim true, for it was false from the beginning; neither can centuries of misconception diminish the power of God, who is the same yesterday, today and forever.

MANKIND'S GREATEST ENEMY

Fear is the archenemy of humanity, and many are those who are living under its constant pressure and know not how to escape from its bondage. Throughout all time man has bowed down to fear as to a false god, and is confronted by its suggestions in all the activities of human existence. Fear attends his advent into the world, and throughout his life he is educated to be afraid; afraid of the food he eats, the air he breathes, and of the wind that blows; he is afraid of his brother man, afraid of his own body, and afraid of God. Little wonder that he is sick and in trouble. Christian Science reveals that God's universe including man was created without fear, that the real man has no fear of disease, contagion, or epidemic; therefore, fear is without hope and without God, and anything without God has no real existence, because God is the only creator. Christian Science says to the sorrowing and fearful; You are suffering only from false beliefs, the result of ignorance and fear; ignorance of the changeless laws of God, good, and fear of the ever changing laws of man.

The Christian Science practitioner knows that man needs to be freed from ignorance and fear, which he recognizes as the predisposing cause of disease. The sick are healed to establish the fact of the reality of good and the unreality of error. The healing in Christian Science is not confined to physical healing alone, but may be applied throughout the whole range of human experience. It is indeed so intensely practical that it can be used in the routine of everyday life. The great airplanes of diverse shape and size that fleck the sky today are in existence because some one has discovered the laws governing aerial locomotion. These laws were in existence in prehistoric days, but man was limited in the execution of them because of his ignorance of them. Since God is the only cause or creator, all real law emanates from Him, and there is no peace or safety in living in disobedienec to His law. Christian Science is the religion of opportunity. There is an old hackneyed saying that opportunity knocks but once at man's door,—old and hackneyed and almost universally believed. When it is understood that opportunity is a divine idea, therefore, boundless and unlimited, and that it is always knocking at the door of consciousness, man will enjoy success instead of failure; and when he knows success from the standpoint of Principle, he will be able to understand the failures of the past and profit thereby.

One of the greatest torments that beset mankind is the fear of lack. The law of infinite Mind includes no provision for poverty and lack. Christian Science teaches that the amplitude of God is the sufficient supply of man, enabling him to be clothed and fed, and is the true substance which is changeless and imperishable. Jesus, the Man of God, knew no lack nor limitation. He turned water into wine when there seemed to be a lack at the marriage feast; he multiplied the loaves and fishes when the multitudes believed there was no bread; he found gold in the fish's mouth when the disciples said there was no money for taxes. Throughout his whole career he constantly supplied the needs of humanity, proving that God is a God of abundance; at the most crucial moment in his whole carrer, when forsaken of men, even by his own disciples, Jesus was forced to prove the abundance of life by overcoming death on the cross. When he declared, "Thy will be done," he overcame death, because in declaring the will of God he declared the law of Life. In overcoming death, man's most feared enemy, he proved the continuity of consciousness,—the eternality of life.

One of the most pernicious beliefs which beset humanity is the fear of inherited disease or of the inherited tendency or inclination to certain diseases. The law of heredity was completely annulled when Jesus healed the man blind from his birth. If man is the image and likeness of God, he cannot inherit discord or any evil, and there is no law of heredity to bind him. God is infinite good, and sends no punishment and no curse upon His creation. That portion of Scripture which refers to visiting the sins of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation is sometimes understood as a contradiction of this; but when the second commandment is read in its entirety it is found to be a warning of the penalty which follows hatred of God. It carries with it a rich promise for those who are loving and obedient.

The objection is sometimes made by those who do not understand the method of Christian Science healing that nothing is being done for the sick who have turned to it for aid. Is one relying on nothing, when one turns to the supreme source and cause of all things, the power which created the universe and man? Because God is the only creator He is abundantly able to care for His own creation and to keep His divine law in operation. God is greater than any disease or evil condition and there is nothing to fear from looking to the only source and origin of all that exists for help and healing. Does not Scripture say that God is "a God at hand" and not "afar off," an ever present help? Christian Science declares that all that is necessary for the healing of the sick is included in the one omnipotent Mind.

There are today great numbers of people on earth who, in times past, in hopeless bondage to fear, misery and disease were compelled to turn to God for help because all else had failed them. Ask these people if they were doing nothing when they turned to Christian Science for healing. They will tell you that after everything else had failed, they learned that the only thing to do is to rely upon God. For many years in every Christian Science church throughout the world, on Wednesday evening a testimonial or experience meeting has been held. During this time millions of authenticated cases of healing have been related,—authenticated in the sense that those giving the testimony are generally those who have had the actual experience of healing. Many of these people say that by the reading of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," known as the only textbook of Christian Science, they have been healed of diseases, classified as incurable. From cover to cover of this wonderful book, Mrs. Eddy declares the power and availability of God. These people, redeemed from disease and sin, say that they are better men and women because of the ministration of Christian Science; they say that through the textbook they have learned to understand and love God, that it has made them devout students of the Bible, and that it has taught them to pray intelligently. They express the depest gratitude for having been delivered from paralyzing fear, from bad disposition, and temperamental tendencies, the direct cause of much disease and discord. These people who have learned the majesty and might of goodness and the utter powerlessness of evil are not a deluded people. They know that the kind of mentality which causes disease cannot cure it, and that this change did not take place through any ism or mental suggestion, or through the withering influence of hypnotism, but that it came through the hallowing influence of Christ, Truth, ever operating through divine law.

The consecrated study of Science and Health is moulding the lives of thousands upon thousands into better health, honesty, justice and purity. As time goes on, this book will find its place in human history as the greatest benefactor of this age; and no attempt of evil can ever displace it or overthrow it.

The purpose of Christian Science practice is to help others and to enable them to learn from the textbook how to practice and to demonstrate the truth taught therein. The practitioner who realizes most clearly that there is no disease in matter to be treated, but rather that there is a false sense of the patient to be corrected, will accomplish the best results and gain a victory over error. If disease is absolutely ruled out of thought it will not be found in the body.

No right thinking Christian Scientist claims that he has attained perfection today. He does not claim that the full scope of healing has yet been accomplished, but he is striving constantly for more of the Mind which was in Christ Jesus and is therefore a better man and a more desirable citizen in any community. He thinks more seriously of his vote that it may be cast on the side of civic righteousness: he is in sympathy with every effort to bring about better conditions for humanity through the regeneration of mankind.

PRAYER

Prayer is supposed to have a place in the daily life of every consistent Christian, and is generally believed to be the means by which man communicates with God; Jesus attached so much importance to the right concept of prayer that he gave the greatest of all prayers, beginning, "Our Father which art in heaven." Nowhere did Jesus, teaching as he did that he was not God, instruct his followers to pray to him; neither did he instruct them to appeal to any other personality, but without intercession, to approach God in loving confidence. How many good Christians have absolute confidence that prayer is always answered? The crying need of the world is to know how to pray aright, to pray the righteous prayer which availeth much. "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" contains a chapter on prayer which is accepted by Christian Scientists and acknowledged by many other advanced thinkers to be the greatest treatise on prayer ever written. In this chapter (p. 1) Mrs. Eddy says, "Desire is prayer;" then she clearly sets forth what the right desire and purpose of prayer must be. Her exposition is in exact accord with the teachings of Jesus. Christian Science teachers that by constant thinking the truth, we fulfill Jesus' command to pray constantly. The truth, the spiritual fact about all things, exists, and the knowing of this is the constant or righteous prayer.

Mortal mind, the supposed opposite of God or Spirit, always presents an inverted sense of things; it believes only in itself and comprehends all things from its own standpoint and after its own likeness. If its claims and beliefs are the inversion of truth, then the very opposite of what material sense claims is true: to gain the experience of answered prayer we must hold thought to the spiritual reality of things. Jesus, when he instructed his disciples in prayer, said, "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Much of the prayer of the world has been uttered for material things or, for the fulfillment of human desires, and it is never answered. Jesus denounced such prayer, but the moment we know that God has given all good to man and that all good now and eternally is, that moment we begin to receive the benefits of prayer and experience its blessings. That moment may be the present moment —"Now is the day of salvation," cried Paul to a people who were looking to a future salvation; and Christian Science declares that today is the day of salvation to those who demonstrate the same Christ, Truth.

Mankind has emerged but slowly out of paganism, because it has not known how to pray intelligently. It has prayed to every kind of graven image, and to a humanized sense of Deity, which, after all, is only its own graven image. Christian Science treatment is prayer; but it does not create nor change anything but false beliefs, neither does it operate because of any mental argument, but because it declares and demonstrates the spiritual facts of being. True prayer is deliverance from evil beliefs, and is the process by which man gains heaven here and now. Christian Scientists have many proofs of the protecting power of prayer, or right thought. This does not mean that God selects Christian Scientists upon whom to bestow especial protection, but it does mean this,—that faithful Christian Scientists may have protection in the hour of danger because they know their God. This is the promise of Scripture; and it is most impressively set forth in the ninety-first psalm, which says, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. . . . There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling." We are always protected when we abide in the consciousness of divine Mind and do not wander out into the mazes of human belief. Christian Science teaches that the individuality and identity of God's creation is forever preserved and expressed. It does not teach that creation is ultimately absorbed or merged into one spirit. The individuality of each idea is forever expressed.

THE BIBLE

Christian Scientists accept the teaching of the Bible from Genesis to Revelation, and believe that the golden thread of inspiration which runs throughout unites all ages as the Christ is revealed. Science and Health has given an illumination to the Scriptures that enables the student to comprehend their spiritual import. If the Bible is God's Word to His people, then it is for us today to know and to understand it. No longer do Christian Scientists read the Scriptures in a perfunctory manner, but it is their delight to read and study them daily.

The Bible as a book of human history would be of no more value today than any other ancient history were it not for that thread of Truth which has preserved it throughout all time and has made it sacred to all Christian people. The Christian warfare, the strife in individual consciousness, is ever the same in the overcoming of evil with Truth; therefore, the experiences of the people of God, of every prophet and apostle, depict the conflict between good and evil experienced by every mortal. Religious history presents different conditions of thought; the story of Job's life is illustrative of the life of every man born into the flesh. Mortal man, like Job, has looked in vain for a contented state of mind. Searching for satisfaction and happiness, he has plunged into every pleasure, only to find disappointment. Business and the accumulation of money have been the resort of many to gain peace and content of mind, but the goal has ever been a will-o'-the-wisp, just ahead, but never within grasp. Men have been prone to believe that there is no religious teaching that is satisfactory or dependable, and at last arrive at that place in their experience where they exclaim, "All is vanity and vexation of spirit." At this point they may be ready for Christian Science, and when they understand it they can then declare, as did Job, "I know that my redeemer liveth."

Mortal mind has within itself no saving grace. It suggests its own sense of happiness and pleasure; if man chooses to look to matter for satisfaction, he must accept all the suffering that accompanies this belief. Jesus' statement, "The flesh profiteth nothing," is identical with the statement of Science and Health (p. 468) in what is known as the "scientific statement of being," that "all is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation." Christian Scientists have found that the teaching of their textbook does not vary one hair's breadth from the teaching of the Bible.

THE DISCOVERER AND FOUNDER

Little more than fifty years ago there was just one Christian Scientist on earth, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. She says in "Retrospection and Introspection," that from her very childhood she was impelled by a hunger and thirst after divine things, a desire for something better than matter and apart from it. This spiritual desire made her always consecrated in thought and purpose to the endeavor to know and to understand God.

With maturing years came the conviction of the unreliable nature of all things material, and at last she was left to die as the result of an injury supposed to be fatal. She then called for her Bible, and while reading of the cures wrought by Jesus realized that God was as able to heal then as in centuries past, and she immediately arose from her bed restored to health. Centuries of time had not annulled God's promises, and with her healing came the determination to know the Science or truth of that which had wrought such a change in her life. She devoted years to the research; and at last, in the divine and natural order of events, in 1875, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" was given to the world. This experience is most comprehensively set forth in her book, "Retrospection and Introspection," a short biographical account of her own life. She writes of her great discovery (p. 25): "The Bible was my textbook. It answered my question as to how I was healed; but the Scriptures had to me a new meaning, a new tongue. Their spiritual signification appeared; and I apprehended for the first time, in their spiritual meaning, Jesus' teaching and demonstration, and the Principle and rule of a spiritual Science and metaphysical healing,—in a word, Christian Science."

Throughout all time, here and there, men and women of uplifted thought have been able to heal through faith, but they had no knowledge of divine law or of the process by which healing might be accomplished for all. Their experiences were fragmentary and not the result of a knowledge of Principle. It is no miracle to accomplish results when one is shown the way through a scientific rule and its application, but the great miracle was this, that in a world and age of abject materialism, a woman appeared, who through steadfast faith in God and a desire to know His will in order to help mankind, was able to peer back through the centuries of error, ignorance, and darkness and perceive again the healing Christ. This was the miracle, and yet it was the inevitable action of Truth. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy has set forth a scientific system with definite rules for practice, which will enable any sincere seeker to prove the truth of her revelation. In the early years of her ministry, with sublime patience and courage, she waited, worked and prayed, until she had gained a handful of students to assist her in raising the standard of Christian Science on earth. Today, Christian Science is known throughout the whole world; in many villages and remote places there is a society or church organization, and most of the larger cities have many overflowing churches. Mrs. Eddy also established The Christian Science Journal and the Christian Science Sentinel, monthly and weekly publications invaluable to students of Christian Science. Later she founded the great international daily called The Christian Science Monitor, a newspaper circulated and read throughout the world and generally acknowledged as entirely reliable in its statements. She also founded and directed many other activities in connection with the church, which were designed to be, and always will be, of great benefit to humanity. This accomplishment was the result of one woman's clear understanding of God and reliance upon Him.

Humanity has slowly outgrown its ancient beliefs and its many false gods, while history shows that woman has but slowly arisen from a state of captivity and bondage. It is this ancient belief that has been the basis of any opposition there has been to Mrs. Eddy's leadership. She has ever been the great friend of woman, and through her teachings many of us have been given strength and courage to meet the problems of life successfully. Christian Science does not advocate the superiority of woman; its appeal is for universal spiritual suffrage, which will equalize and unify the thought of men and women, and will emancipate the whole human race from sin, disease and death. Mrs. Eddy has revealed the way of deliverance for woman in the way of salvation for all mankind. Christian Science has made better men and women, and it has elevated womanhood as it has purified manhood by giving a nobler citizenship to the world.

It would be strange indeed if Christian Scientists did not love and revere Mrs. Eddy for her unselfish devotion and commemorate her great works for the blessings that they individually feel have been their portion as the result of her consecrated life-work. She never encouraged the slightest personal adulation, but always turned her followers to the worship of God, away from personality to Principle. Humanity will sometime realize that it can never repay its debt of gratitude to Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

CHURCH

The Christian Science church, founded by Mrs. Eddy, stands for pure democracy, the brotherhood of man, universal participation, growth, and culture, where each individual has his place in divine Mind and cannot usurp the place of another. The true understanding of God reveals the true brotherhood of man. Knowledge of God is true education, and only as the spiritual sense is gained through the study of the latter can the truth be demonstrated.

The world travailing in anguish and sorrow has great need of the Comforter today, but the great convulsing problems can be settled ultimately only through the understanding of Principle. As Christian Scientists look out upon the world's great tumult, resulting from conflicting thought, they are not dismayed nor discouraged. They know that God governs the universe and that the earth is to be transformed. The progress of individuals, as well as that of nations, is according to their concept of Deity, and the universal understand of God will end all strife and warfare, and bring a permanent peace. Christian Scientists believe that day will come when all shall know Him from the least unto the greatest and God's love shall be manifested among men.

We Know a Quicker, Easier, Cheaper And Heap More Comfortable Way to Locate a Spot of Ground Than This

The discovery of that God-forsaken, frozen spot, the North Pole, which has less value than a thimble full of desert sand, is of little consequence, except that it chalks up another triumph for human will.

Long ago men discovered how to locate patches of coveted soil much easier and more economically than did the famous Mr. Peary—they discovered the quick and sure method of getting in touch with real estate turns was through the Real Estate Columns of the classified pages of a live newspaper, which not only finds undeveloped land, improved property, houses, apartments and business sites, but disposes of, rents and leases them as well.

By this means maximum results are obtained with the demanded minimum effort and expense.

If you have any notion of a real estate deal of any size or kind, phone for one of our real estate experts—he will show you how to put it over before discouragement will have time to twist or chap your hopes.

Past experience cannot decide your next attempt—but our Real Estate Columns can.

Failure very much resents the shrewdness of our Real Estates Columns, because they open its eyes.

Truths in Epigram

Life is not measured by the time we live.—Crabbe.

Manners must adorn knowledge and smooth its way through the world.—Chesterfield.

Zeno first started that doctrine that knavery is the best defense against a knave.—Plutarch.

They that marry ancient people, merely in expectation to bury them, hang themselves, in hope that one will come and cut the halter.—Fuller.

OUT OF THEIR CLASS

The president of the National Republican club has been making a few pointed remarks. He says that he hopes to see the time when men who have been elected by republican votes, supported by republican papers, and styling themselves republicans, but who assail the republican administration at every opportunity, shall be thrown out of that party and over to the democrats, "where they belong." This seems quite reasonable. Concerning the identity of the men he names, he leaves no doubt; not that there could be any doubt. He names them. They are Borah, La Follette and Johnson.

Each one of this trio, nominally a republican, in reality is of some other political faith. As to their belonging in the democratic camp, there arises a serious question. Were some upheaval to toss them thither, their reception might not be marked by enthusiasm. Each would take with him his personal platform, which, stated briefly, is that he is superior to any constituency. Borah is merely a roaring defiance. He is by nature "forninst." He has no party tie. His connection with the republicans is to make use of them at election. The republican administration could not formulate any plan that would not find him with the opposition.

As to La Follette little needs be said. His senatorial record has nearly effaced memory of the excellent record won by him in other positions. In the war he was pro-German. There is no reason to believe that the sentiments that animated his conduct at that time have changed. He is merely an instance of a fine intelligence gone wrong, a temperament soured. He is not a republican, but neither could he be classed as a democrat. He is a one-man institution.

Johnson is much like Borah. The people who elected him were bitterly opposed to his stand touching several matters of foreign relationship. By hundreds and thousands they petitioned him not to ignore their wishes. He ignored their wishes, with a grand gesture of disregard for party opinion, public opinion, or any but the Johnson opinion. This course may have the approval of his conscience, which has been trained to satisfactory reaction. It still lacks the approval of the republicans who sent him to Washington.

The arraignment of the turbulent trio seems to have been wholly just.

HORRORS OF PRISON LIFE

Prison reform, that has changed many penal institutions into more than mere places of detention and punishment, seems not to have touched the south throughout. At least Florida has clung to the old routine of brutality and horrors. Recently in a convict camp of that state, a youthful prisoner from North Dakota died as the result of a beating administered by the ruffian in official charge. He was among a number leased out to contractors. In other words, during his term, he would have been virtually a slave. It is not customary to provide such convicts with proper food or shelter, nor do they have opportunity to become in any sense better men. In whatever task they are engaged they are driven to the utmost limit of strength. Often they literally are worked to death, but as to the frequency of beating them to death, nothing is known. Concerning this important detail the Florida legislature proposes to find the truth. The keeper who kills a helpless prisoner is a murderer of unusually depraved and cowardly type.

Among the better class of prison wardens there has become established the belief that the old, ferocious methods of treatment were wrong. The practices of flogging, and all forms of torture, have been abolished. No longer is there an effort to make the convict feel his degradation so that the "iron enters his soul." On the contrary, the appeal is to the elements of manhood remaining in him. He is given hope of arriving at useful citizenship, ultimately going to freedom with high purpose. Formerly he was ground down in despair. The object seemed to be the destruction of his soul.

Society is learning that this is not the wise way, nor the results ever other than deplorable. So, largely for its own protection, it has changed. If there are parts of the country so darkened that the hideous prison system still functions, it is time for the turning on of the light.

FOR COUNTY BONDS

In the effort to secure approval of an issue of bonds by the county, women are taking a leading part. The matter appeals to them poignantly because of the humane considerations involved. The money sought to be raised will be for erecting a jail, in place of the present structure, which is an intolerable disgrace. It will go also to increase hospital facilities in a manner to fit the demands. The jail is not only shamefully crowded, but it is insanitary. To hold even the guilty there is to subject them to conditions that reflect discredit on the community responsible. But it often happens that the innocent are detained for long periods awaiting trial, the delay not being their fault. If the criminal is entitled to consideration, which it is not to be denied, he is, then the non-criminal, merely unfortunate, is being deeply wronged. Moreover, the antiquated jail is a blow to civic pride. It shows that in one important point, duty has been neglected.

The hospital is not only over-thronged, but many who should have unquestioned right to be there, have had to be turned away. There was no vacant cot, no space in which to fix an additional cot. The hospital authorities are doing the best they can, striving manfully to accomplish the impossible, and they are faced with the futile effort; distressed by the realization of the extent to which they must fail. If the busy public might be careless as to the erring, surely its collective heart must be touched at the spectacle of the lowly sick and injured, needing help and being shut away from help.

If the bonds were to fail, the improvements would be made anyhow. The pressure of necessity is too great to be ignored. But if the buildings are erected in the absence of bonds the cost will have to be met by direct taxation, a form in which payment would be felt as an appreciable burden by every taxpayer.

ELEMENTALS OR WHAT

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Lord Carnarvon, who headed the expedition that discovered and opened the tomb of King Tutankhamen at Luxor is dead.

Howard Carter, his associate exploiter, is seriously ill.

Conan Doyle declares that the men were destroyed by an elemental that had been set to guard the tomb against desecration. Perhaps this is true. At any rate the Orient is full of influences that menace the white race, and if you remain long in it you can not escape them. I know.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

In Shanghai I accompanied a healthy, well-balanced American woman to the native city to rummage in a junk shop for jewels. She bought a heavy, curiously wrought bracelet and fastened it round her arm. We got in our jinrikisha and started home. Suddenly she turned pale and gasped:

"Take me back; take me back. This thing is burning my arm off."

She tore the bracelet from her wrist and began stripping her hand down her arm as if she were trying to cast off something loathesome.

"I can't touch it," she cried wide eyed. "It's cursed," and she cast it on the floor of the rikisha. We took it back, but for days she felt that curious burning and creeping on her wrist.

Then I went to Peking and forgot the incident.

Junk shops became my passion in Peking; I was in them daily and I handled and bought all sorts of rare and curious things in the tiny cubby holes of the native city. My hands must have passed over dozens of those beautifully inlaid dressing cases effected by the Oriental women. I admired the wood in them, the carving, the inlaid work of ivory or mother of pearl.

Then one day I met my Waterloo. I was just leaving a little shop where my friends and I had bought liberally and my hands were full of boxes and embroideries. Suddenly I spied in a remote corner a curiously lovely old dressing case. Handing my purchases to my rickisha boy I said:

"Wait a minute; that box is mine," and I took it to ascertain the condition of the inlaid work.

But I had scarcely touched it when my hair rose with horror. The blood crept coldly from my hands upward toward my shoulders as if fleeing from a pestilence. But I clung to the box trying to overcome the uncanny thing that had me in its grip.

And while I clung I saw a vision that froze my blood in my veins. The box that was in my hands was still, in spite of this, on a low table in a rich room. Before it sat a lovely young woman and I knew her for an oriental concubine. Back of her, creeping up stealthily was a man with a knife in his teeth and, even as I looked, he cut her throat from ear to ear.

The voice of one of my friends woke me from my hideous trance:

"For God's sake, Estelle," she was saying. "What is the matter. You look like you had seen the devil."

"I have," was all I could grasp, "Let's get out of this cursed place."

And I dropped the box and ran for the clean air outside the shop. Unconsciously I was stripping my hands as if casting from them something unclean. At the hotel I washed and washed. I dipped my hands in raw alcohol, I bathed them in water saturated with bichloride; but the impression clung and it was days before I felt clean.

Even today, two years after that experience, my flesh creeps at the memory.

What was it? God knows, I don't. I only know that it happened as I have related it.

And so I am inclined to believe there is something in what Conan Doyle says about the desecration of the Egyptian tombs.

Vocabulary

A parricide is the murdering of a parent, either father or mother. The meaning is even extended to the murder of an ancestor or other person entitled to particular reverence. Parricide also means the act of murder of a parent. The word may be spelled with one r. Parricidal and parricidous are adjectives. Parricidism is a noun; parricidally, an adverb. In all these words the accent is on the first syllable.

Queries

A. Newmark, New York: "Will you please give illustrations of the proper uses of the words will and shall and would and should as used in the following sentences: I will or shall) call on you; I (would or should) be pleased to call?"

Answer: I would be pleased is incorrect. The right word is should. Will and would, when used in the first person, express wish or determination. But this state is already implied in the expression be pleased. Therefore, I would be pleased means I wish (am determined) to be pleased, which is an absurd statement. Correct: I should be pleased to call. On the other hand, if you wish to make a promise, you may say, "I will call on you."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Life might be compared with the great shade tree.

Of which the beauty is in leaves and sturdy trunk.

JAMES W. FOLEY

In comforting shade.

Or in nourishing nut and refreshing fruit.

* * *

But beneath and below and supporting it all lie the roots.

That reach far into the loamy soil.

Bringing up elements of strength and growth.

And if the roots are diseased, then the beauty of the tree is gone.

For the roots may not be beautiful.

But they bring beauty to the trunk and leaves and limbs of the tree.

* * *

The roots of the tree of human life rest in education.

Academic, spiritual and moral.

And from these roots of education beauty is communicated to the tree.

And without these roots of education, the limbs are bare and the trunk is rotten and the leaves disappear and the tree dies.

And nothing is less beautiful than a dead tree.

* * *

The beauty of life is manifested in many ways and through many things.

It is manifested in labor.

That adds to the wealth and progress of the world.

It is manifested in art.

Which adds to the stimulation and inspiration of the world.

It is manifested in friendliness.

Which adds to the happiness of the world.

* * *

These manifestations of beauty are the leaves and limbs and the blossoms and fruit and the trunk of the tree of human life.

Without them life like the tree would be leafless and fruitless and ugly.

And the leaf and the blossom and the fruit and the nut and the trunk depend upon the roots.

* * *

So when the tree begins to lose its beauty of leaf and blossom, we seek the reason.

Some of us seek to spray the leaves.

Some of us would merely cut out the evil looking places.

But there are those who would go down into the rootage and discover the real source of disease.

* * *

In the human life for instance, lack of beauty and appearance of evil, arises from defective education.

From a lack of fair nourishment out of the soil of education through the rootage of the tree.

And before we can have beauty in life that trouble must be corrected.

* * *

The soul that is rooted in sordid selfishness cannot become beautiful.

The life that is rooted in greed and hatred and bitterness cannot be beautiful.

These evils arise from defective education.

A lack of right impulse.

And it is the part of real education to supply right impulse.

* * *

Get down into the soil in which you are growing and see what kind of soil it is.

Learn whence you are getting nourishment.

Where your roots of life are reaching out.

And then learn why the leaves are failing and the blossoms dying and the trunk growing rotten and diseased.

* * *

We have to get deep down into the roots of living to discover where evil lies.

Songs of the Poets

Palabras Carinosas—By Thomas Bailey Aldrich

Goodnight! I have to say good night
To such a host of peerless things!
Good-night unto the slender hand
All queenly with its weight of rings;
Good-night to fond, uplifted eyes,
Good-night unto the perfect mouth,
And all the sweetness nestled there—
The snowy hand detains me, then
I have to say good-night again.

But there will come a time, my love,
When, if I read our stars aright,
I shall not linger on this porch
With my farewells. Till then, goodnight!
You wish the time were now? And I.
You do not blush to wish it so?
You would have blushed yourself to death
To own so much a year ago—
What, both these snowy hands! ah then
I'll have to say good-night again!

THE EGYPTIAN CURSE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

LORD CARNARVON in opening up a tomb in Egypt was bitten on the right cheek by a mosquito. He paid no attention to the bite and the following day took off the scab while shaving. The wound became infected possibly by dust or probably from a fly. Erysipelas developed and he died.

And now come the witch doctors and the whole hocus-pocus tribe and tell us that Lord Carnarvon's death was the result of a curse laid several thousand years ago upon any one who would disturb the bones of the deceased monarch.

Ibrahim Cyrana, an Egyptian priest, declares: "This is not the first time that sacrilegious explorers have been slain by their own temerity. Each tomb of a Pharaoh bears an inscription called the 'seal of execration,' foretelling a terrible death for the disturbers of the Pharaoh's sleep. The vengeance of the Pharaohs has been wrought upon Lord Carnarvon. Howard Carter may laugh, but he will also soon be stricken down."

Marie Corelli thus expresses herself: "Could it be that Tutankhamen kept something poisonous among the garments and jewels in the tomb? In any case I feel that the intrustion of modern men into the 3000 years' silence and death sleep of the kings of Egypt is something of a desecration, and that it will not and cannot come to good."

And Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who in late years has turned from good story writing to poor spook hunting, says that the explorer's death may have been due to an "evil elemental." An elemental, he informs us, is an artificial force created by a spirit mind or by nature. He declares that he was aware of the existence of such a power, particularly Egyptian, but that no one knew the extent of the influence it might exert.

Professor Lutz of the University of California points out that the superstitious Egyptians believe that Carnarvon's death is due to the curse of Allah or a sorcerer having power over serpents.

Even William T. Stead, the noted British publicist, declared that every person who had been associated with the mummy of the Princess Amen Ra soon suffered death or grave misfortune. He declared that the four young men who brought a mummy case from Egypt all suffered accident or death. One lost part of his right arm by the explosion of his fowling gun. Another was shot and killed. A third lost most of his fortune. And the fourth died in poverty within a year.

The most amazing thing about all this nonsense is that so many people "think there is something in it."

From long ages of savagery the human race has inherited an enormous amount of blind superstition. Most of us have dark corners in our mind where we still believe in taboos and totems.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The Methodists, strong and energetic sect, much devoted to missionary effort, will permit the remark to be ventured, that so far as Russia is concerned, they are treading on delicate ground. The wiles of the bolsheviki are innumerable and cunning.

HENRY JAMES

It appears that the Methodists have been invited to Russia, ostensibly to devise a plan for reorganizing the Greek church, which is based upon a religion similar to their own, but more ancient as to specific form.

Authorities of the Greek church assert that the invitation is from the bolsheviki, that already they have declared war on the church, and even now seek to promote atheism. The ribald ceremonies of Christmas and Easter, marked by shocking mockery of all tradition and all custom deemed sacred by the churches of every land, lent even to the baseness of bolshevism, an added infamy.

The charge is made that an American preacher who turned bolshevist after entering Russia, and who now is openly advocating the doctrine of Lenine, has furnished the Methodists with false and misleading information. If he has told them that the bolsheviki desire the upbuilding of any church, native or foreign, undoubtedly there is sound basis for the charge against him.

There is a trick in every move of the bolshevists. The truth is not in them, nor honor, nor any of the traits that contribute to human virtue.

They gave a radio birthday party to a gallant old man recently. Friends had taken this novel manner of congratulating him upon having reached the age of 88. But he was not ready to be called old, and so he said to them, "Won't this be a great thing to recall when I get to be an old man?"

But though the years may pass and find him still surviving, he never can grow old. Such a spirit defies the decades and remains ever the spirit of youth.

Among the guests at a recent luncheon of the Sons of the American Revolution was Cornelius Cole, fully as interesting as anybody there, and as much interested. Mr. Cole passed the century mark last October. He declines to look the part. In the gathering were men twenty-five years younger, who looked and acted as old as the venerable ex-senator.

When the remark is made that the senate is the most dignified deliberative body on earth, it is not intended for the senate that convenes at Sacramento.

At a recent session of the latter one member said to another, with some appearance of heat, "You're a liar."

Had a member of the national senate entertained so radical an opinion concerning the moral status of an associate, he would have kept still about it.

Any man eligible to membership in a university club, and living where there is such an organization, ought to join it. It is an excellent thing for men who for years have been away from the class room to get together and compare notes so as to see if any of them have learned anything since the old days.

A man might take a good idea into a university club meeting with a reasonable chance of making a fair trade.

A few days ago a young woman, resident of Pasadena, was married. When the bridal couple reached Chicago "an army of reporters" was on hand to annoy them with prying and impertinent questions. This is one of the incidents that makes newspaper men ashamed of some phases of the profession.

The young woman happens to be wealthy, and to have chosen a husband of moderate income. The fact of her wealth was the only excuse for molesting her, and that is the poor excuse, to be reckoned worse than none.

The Russians are hunting gold in their northern mountains. "If they find enough of it, you will be surprised to see how quickly they will become 'respectable' in the eyes of other nations," remarks one commentator.

They had for a time considerable of the stuff stolen from the former regime and looted from strong boxes, and it didn't even get them started on the road to respectability. They are headed in the other direction. Gold could not change the rotten souls of them.

The time when Charles W. Morse malingered his way out of the penitentiary is recalled every little while. He pretended to be sick, although he was an excellent insurance risk, a picture of health an hour after his foolery had succeeded in winning him liberty. Now, together with several sons, he is about to be tried on charges of crookedness based on war-time activities. One of the sons is pleading illness, but he can't get away with it. The old man would have known better than to resort to that dodge.

A Long Beach police officer was shot by accident. The people of the town conceived the idea of presenting the widow with a duplex house. That would mean shelter for her, and an income. So a fund was collected to pay for such material as was not donated, and then skilled artisans volunteered their free services.

That is friendship of a very practical and admirable type.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

Not so long ago I formed a new acquaintance. A good scout and all that sort of thing. Able, intelligent, snappy, and forceful. Then I lost sight of him. Coincidentally with the losing I began to read unpleasant things in the papers.

"It's too bad," I said to Mrs. Pilgrim. "I liked him. These charges may not be true, but they will cripple his career, true or not. I do not believe them, but lots of people will."

Did they cripple his career?

Not perceptibly.

He appeared again yesterday. Where as I thought he had been getting under cover or something of the sort he had been engaged upon his lawful business. He has travelled pretty well over the United States. Wherever he went he found the stories had preceded him, because they were of a nature that made this certain. Not that they affected his personal honor, but—as I thought—they would affect his business success.

"Shucks," he said. "I paid no attention to them at all. Neither did many of the folks I met."

His theory is that none of us are of such tremendous importance to the rest of us that the great majority will pay much attention to the individual minority. If he had hidden away it is likely that the world, being somewhat wolfish in its manners, would have given him a severe bite. And if he had gone around ill at ease the world would have said to itself:

"Whatsa matter with this bird? Oh, yes. I remember now."

Whereupon the world might have been unpleasant. But as he was quite his own pleasant self no one thought for a moment about his purely personal troubles. The people who have to live down unpleasant histories are those who permit themselves to be worried. The best way is just to give the cold shoulder to trouble.

"Honest," said he, "so far as I know I haven't lost a dollar or a friend. But if I had gone around worrying the column might not have footed up that way."

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

Ingeniously designed prehistoric dugouts used by cave men in escaping from or resisting the attack of their enemies have been found in France.

Although most of the northern part of United States was once covered with glacial ice, there is an ice-free area in Peary Land in arctic Greenland, which never has been covered with glaciers.

From sources separated from it by several miles of water, nature has now reclothed the small island of Krakatau, between Java and Sumatra, on which all animal and vegetable life was completely destroyed by tremendous volcanic activity in 1883.

Experiments show that the wounds of dogs on a complete diet heal faster and are less easily infected than the wounds of dogs fed on a vitamin free diet.

ART AND ECONOMY IN HOME BUILDING

Design Submitted by the National Builders' Bureau

Both the exterior illustration and floor plan of this semi-Spanish home are self-explanatory as to its attractiveness, compactness, conveniences, etc., and represents a home that you would be proud to call your own.

The exterior is of stucco over tile, wood or metal lath—and the alternate floor plans give a combination of arrangements that are bound to please and meet the requirements of the average home builder.

Come to our office and inspect the hundreds of home plans which we have made available for your inspection, and let us tell you how we are equipped to serve you with dependable materials.

The above plans are furnished by Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz Road. The details and prices for the construction of any building which may appear on this page can be obtained free of charge by any one desiring the same from the

"KNIGHTS OF THE TIMBER"

A tense, thrilling, red-blooded story of the great timber country of the Northwest

FELIX CARTOON NEWS

SCARLET SCOURGE OF THE FOREST IS FIRE

Most Senseless Thing Is the Burning of Nation's Assets

Of all the fool things the American people do, there is probably none more senseless than the burning each year of millions of acres of forests, to say nothing of homes and lives frequently destroyed. To permit this destruction to continue, with the scarcity of timber now so plainly written on the wall, is nothing more than downright asinity. It is high time Californians were waking up to the fact that forests and prosperity are inseparably linked together and that every tree that goes up in smoke is a national calamity as well as a drain on their pocketbooks. Over one-half the remaining timber in the United States lies along the Pacific Coast and it is to California and the Pacific Northwest that two-thirds of the people of this country are now turning for their timber supply. If we are to meet this demand we must see to the preservation of our magnificent forests; and that, in short, means eliminating the forest fire menace.

Nearly 2000 forest fires occurred in California in 1922. These conflagrations burned over more than 350,000 acres of timber and brush land and did damage amounting to $650,000. Over 85 per cent of these fires were man-caused and therefore preventable. Eight hundred fires of this total were directly due to the carelessness of campers and tobacco smokers. The thoughtless camper and the smouldering cigarette stub are still the most deadly enemies of the green forest.

The toll of the scarlet scourge of the forest in this state for the past ten years stands at 1,300,000 acres burned over, with damage amounting to more than $4,000,000. Sobering figures these to all those who have the best interets of California at heart.

Forest proctection, however, is by no means a new idea. Joel in the Old Testament gives some wonderful descriptions of the destruction wrought by forest fires, and was in a sense the inventor of the present-day slogan, "Help Prevent Fires." Isaiah, from a conservation standpoint, was the Roosevelt of the Holy Land, and an ardent advocate of forest and water-shed protection. David knew much about forestry and even Solomon "spake of trees, from the cedar tree that is in Lebanon even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall * * *."

Today, ninety-five per cent of the forest problem hinges on fire prevention. Nature, if given a fighting chance, will reclothe the cut-over and denuded mountain slopes with a new growth of trees. Seventy-five years from now—a short span in the life of a forest—experts say that the last virgin stands of timber in this state will have been laid low and we will then have to look to the second-growth forests for our lumber supply. Will we then have sufficient timber for the upbuilding of that greater California for which we are now striving? Yes, if we take to heart the lessons of the past and learn to preach and practice CARE WITH FIRE IN THE FORESTS.

National prosperity has never yet in the world's history been built of the blackened stumps of burned forests.

That's why President Harding, realizing the seriousness of the situation, has for the third time proclaimed Forest Protection Week —April 22-28.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A BOY ASLEEP

Dear little eyes that close in slumber,
That were so merry all the day,
So filled with pictures without number,
Through the long hours of boyhood's play;
Dear little eyes, I love so dearly
In all this precious time of youth,
In days to come may they see clearly
And follow in the ways of truth.

Dear little hands that close so tightly,
And are so brown and burned with sun,
That I touch now, and Oh, so lightly,
When the day's happy play is done;
Dear little hands, may they be ready
For helping need; may they be strong
Through days of manhood, strong and steady
To lift the right and smite the wrong.

Dear little heart, that beats before me
In gentle cadences and warm,
If sometime heavy clouds break o'er thee,
If sometime there shall come the storm,
Dear little heart, come then the splendor
Of courage to be strong and true,
And all the love of me so tender
Be thine to help and cherish you.

Dear, happy dreams that may be whiling
The hours of thy sleep away,
And bring now to thy face the smiling
Of sweetly recollected play,
Dear, happy dreams, in days hereafter
When skies may be no longer blue
May they come back again with laughter,
To comfort, cheer and strengthen you.

M. Meek, who was a widower, with one daughter, had married Mrs. Wild, a widow, who also had on daughter.

The minister was visiting the newly married couple and the second Mrs. Meek was trying to make a good impression upon him.

"Yes," she was saying, "my stepdaughter is as dear to me as my own daughter. I show no preference, and love them equally."

There was a step outside the door, then a tap.

The former Mrs. Wild put on her kindest smile.

"Is that you, darling?" she asked.

"No, ma," came the voice of her step-daughter, "It's me."

NATION'S HOTEL FOR BAY CITY

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 24.—A "Hotel of the Nations," to be the immigration headquarters of the port of San Francisco, which were lately ordered removed from Angel Island in San Francisco bay, has been approved by federal immigration authorities at Washington, according to word received by the Foreign Trade club here.

The "Hotel of the Nations" would be a temporary place of detention on the waterfront for aliens before their admittance to this country. Clean, pleasant, but not luxurious quarters would be provided for those aliens who could not afford hotel accommodations.

In addition, there would be built another hotel, of a higher class, for those aliens who have the funds to pay for the best sort of room and service.
